High School Bond Question To Be Decided Saturday

The Editor's column

by S. R. PADDOCK

The more we study the enrollment figures of the present 12 elementary schools within the Arlington Heights high school district, the more certain we become that the voters should cast their ballot for the second high school.

Let us cut out the "juggling" of enrollment figures that has become controversial and so confusing that many voters do not know what it is about.

Let us forget about the possible move-ins.

Let us forget about all those houses being built in Rolling Meadows, Virginia Terrace, Westgate, the two new subdivisions in Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect that are now in the planning stage.

Let us suppose that the couples who will occupy those homes are childless and intend to remain that way.

Let us suppose that the only enrollment problem facing the high school board are the boys and girls now attending those 12 schools.

There should not be any difference of opinion regarding those figures. Remember we are leaving out all move-in figures. The total who will be entering high school in 1956 (about the time the new building will be ready) is 1904, which is 208 more than the opponents expect the present school to accommodate and over 700 more than the school board says should be attempted in the present building.

In 1960, again without counting any move-ins, the total enrollment will be 2736 and in 1961, 2997, which is 407 more than twice as many students now enrolled.

There cannot be any doubt that the second school is needed.

In order that readers can do their own figuring on future enrollment, we offer the present enrollment figures covering the children who are today in those 12 elementary schools.

There seems to be some confusion regarding the tax cost of the proposed bond issue. Here are the authentic figures:

We have been paying interest and principal on the gymnasium addition several years. The tax for that purpose has been assessed against real estate the past four years. That bond issue does not enter the present picture at all.

The proposed new high school is to be financed on a 20 year plan, the same as many persons are buying homes. The heaviest payment will be for 1954, amounting to $225,000 ($150,000 principle and $75,000 interest). The interest rate drops about $5,000 a year thereafter. In 1960, the total will be $198,000.

If the bond issue carries, the tax increase for every $100 tax you now pay will be from $7.40 to $9.00, depending upon the locality in which you reside.

Yes, the greater part of our taxes go for the local shcools. As the enrollment increases, so will the taxes. A defeat of the present bond issue will not lower the present per capita tax for the young people who will attend the high school. Its approval will provide class rooms for their instruction.

There can only be one answer—"YES."

The February issue of Illinois Education Association Study Unit tells the story of Franklin Park recent bond issue of $2,840,000 for remodeling of present building to accommodate 2,000 students and $55,000 for the purchase of a site in another area for a second school.

Some of the figures are very similar to Arlington Heights.

Franklin Park's population increased from 8,000 in 1941 to 30,000 in 1953. Its present school enrollment is 1,202. The expected enrollment in 1961 based on present elementary school attendance is 3,045. The situation in Franklin Park, is somewhat similar to Arlington Heights high school district, except that Arlington will spend 340,000 less money to build a new school than Franklin Park is spending for an addition to the old one; also Arlington Heights has already purchased its second site.

The Catholic chancery office informed us Tuesday that the proposed Catholic high school for boys to be built east of Maine Township high school will cost in excess of $2,000,000, the capacity of which will be 1,200. It will be built on a 35 acre tract. Because it cannot accommodate all of the Catholic boys of the area to be served, registration will be "first come, first served."

The price of the school and the enrollment it will accommodate shows that the proposed Foundry Road school which will accommodate 1,300 students, is not out of line.

A count of the number of Catholic boys and girls attending Arlington Heights high school is only 212. Because the Catholic school will primarily serve the thickly populated area of Niles and Maine townships, it is not thought that it will materially relieve the Arlington school of its student load.

These four children are not the only ones of school age residing in the area who have no sight. There are more of them in need of the schooling other children have. Reading from left to right, Cheryl Corts, Maureen Ryan, Cienwin Klepper and Deborah Splitt.

Mothers Of Blind Children Ask Aid From Local School Systems

EDITOR'S NOTE: We are departing in one instance this week from our usual rule that places all personal communications in the Fence Post. The editor thinks that nearly every one who reads the following will agree with him that the school status of the blind children of this area merit this front page space and also recognition of their need by the school board.

by PATRICIA W. CORTS

Next Saturday we will vote on the issue of a new high school. All of us are conscious there is need of more schools for our children. Did you know there is no room in our schools for blind children?

Recently the parents of more than seventeen blind youngsters in this area beseeched the Superintendents of Schools for one room to be used as a braille classroom. No room is available even though new schools are being built. We can not be assured of an eventual room either. We are met with the problem of guiding our children carefully, endeavoring to make them active useful members of our community. Yet, at the age of 6, when they should enter school they will get no education or be sent to an Institution for the Blind, at Jacksonville, Illinois.

Educators agree institutionalized education should not be given normal children. Therefore, we as parents do not want this solution for our handicapped children. If it is not adequate for normal children to be deprived of their family life, it is obviously not adequate for blind youngsters. To thrust our children into an institition — wholly alien to their family life — would upset them emotionally. They would rightly feel rejected, unwanted. Educators have made great progress in dealing with blind children. They have found they are most capable, if properly directed. The important emotional factor is that they be made to feel they belong. We want them to belong. We do not want to lose them. We do not want to alienate them from their families and communities.

We do want them to become independaent, happy individuals a credit to themselves and to their community. And this can be done.

If the school system would give us one room for these children, we can keep them at home and they may be educated properly. Not only will they be educated in reading, writing and arithmetic, but they will particiapte in regular classrooms for a part of the day. This integrated program has been found to be socially valuable for sighted child as well as the blind child, for teaching of social behavior is reciprocal.

MODERN EDUCATIONAL theories have expanded so far as handicapped children are concerned. We are teaching children to get along with one another and in the world as well as the basic r's. The sighted child learns about his handicapped friend, how to live with him and help him. His efforts are not unrewarded. It is amazing what the blind child is capable of doing. Almost anything a normal child can do. They are marvelous acrobats, swimmers, bowlers — and they are good students and ardent thinkers.

We, as parents, have looked thoroughly into the question of how to best raise our children. We know the way in which a blind child is handled makes all the difference between an active, happy youngster and an unhappy, dependent one. We do not want the latter, and we are endeavoring to make them worthwhile by asking that they be educated here at home.

We are not unaware of the problem the school system faces today, but inasmuch as plans are being made for a new high school, as well as grade schools, we feel a program should be provided for the handicapped.

THE NEED IS URGENT — a room by September — in that some of these youngsters are ready for school: 6, to be exact.

We are most anxious to help the schools in any and every way we can, We are eager to ease their burden in any way. We have located a trained teacher who would be able to take a braille class if a room is available. Most everyone has read or heard of the teacher shortage. It is even more acute where braille teachers are concerned. Having this in mind, we located this teacher so we might impress the school system with our willingness to help if we were given a braille room for our blind children. Our impression failed.

This is a community problem, not ours alone. We need your help. We know you want our children to be a credit to our community. We knew that when you heard of our problem you would lend us your support. You can help by making known to the school board that you are in full sympathy with our cause. Demand that we be given a room for our blind children by September.

Famous Artists, Paintings On Display March 3 And 8

The plan of the Arlington Heights elementary schools to raise funds to buy pictures for the local school is being received enthusiastically.

The plan calls for display of Fine Art prints at the North school at 7 p.m. March 3, and at the same time March 8 at the Junior high school. This splendid collection of pictures, 150 in all, is being loaned to the school by the Colonial Art company. It includes many of the world's famous master pieces. Anyone attending either exhibit will see such well known paintings as Reynold's "Age of Innocence," Van Gogh's "Portrait of a Young Man", and Rembrandt's "The Student." Other prints by such famous artists as Gainsborough, Van Dyck, Da Vinci, Raphael, Renouf, and Remington will also catch the eye of everyone. In addition to the "Old Masters," the works of many modern artists will be shown.

TICKETS for the exhibit were sent home with children in all grades except kindergarten last Friday. The tickets are priced at 15c for children and 35c for adults and will be good for the showing at either North school or the junior high. The school children are being asked to contact their nieghbors with tickets if they do not sell them at home. Tickets will also be on sale at the door.

Mrs. Kay Campbell, art teacher in the Junior high school will be on hand to talk with anyone concerning the pictures. Orders for prints may be placed at the showiing. These prints will be available either framed or unframed in various sizes from 12" x 15" to 37" x 44". Prices will range from $2.50 for a 12 X 15 print unframed to as much as $50 for large well framed reproductions.

The school will receive all the proceeds from ticket sales and 20% of the sale price of each picture. The total of these two items will be used to buy appropriate pictures for all schools.

An appeal is being made to parents to help their children sell tickets and to send the money safely to school.

Eleven Lutheran Churches Announce Lenten Services

Eleven Evangelical Lutheran churches of the Missouri Synod located in this area are using a full page advertisement in this issue calling attention to the Lenten services which will start Wednesday, March 3.

The settlers who emigrated to this area from Germany in the 1840's brought this church with them which for over a hundred years has had a strong influence upon the religious life of this part of northern Illinois.

For a number of years they have united in their Lenten announcements in Paddock Publications.

Attempt Mail Robbery At Prospect Hts.

Prospect Heights came into the limelight in a big way last Thursday when two men held up the mail truck in that community. They did not get anything for their trouble, but swarms of postoffice officials spent a busy two hours making certain that nothing of value had been taken.

The driver is 35 year old Walter Mitchell of 6128 Massasoit in Clearing. He works for the Midwest Transport Company and his job is to pick up sacks of mail in Chicago and deliver them to northwest suburbs.

THURSDAY morning he picked up 90 sacks of mail for delivery. His first stop at 4 a. m. was at Mt. Prospect. He had reached the Prospect Heights postoffice where he was to leave eight sacks. He had carried in seven sacks when suddenly a man appeared. The man carried a gun and wore a stocking cap over his head and face.

The gunman warned Mitchell to make no outcry. He said the gun was loaded and cocked and he, the robber, was just as nervous as Mitchell. The gunman was joined by a second man. They forced Mitchell to sit in a chair and tied him with ropes taken from the mail sacks.

THEY CUT OPEN four sacks of mail and not finding what they were looking for—one of the gunmen said, "He gave us a bum steer. We'll kill him for this." Then the men left and went into the truck where they apparently searched the other mail sacks. They took Mitchell's truck keys and fled, apparently with nothing.

Mitchell managed to free himself and walked to Route 83 and Rand road where he asked a passing motorist to notify the county police.

Early radio news programs announced the attempted robbery.

Because the truck could not be moved until a relief tractor came out from Chicago, Arlington Heights and Palatine used their own mail trucks to pick up their sacks.

THE ROBBERS evidently knew that it is the practice of the postal department to place registered mail pouches into a second pouch. When they did not find such a pouch in any of the sacks they sliced open, they knew that their tip-off was wrong.

School Assessments Higher

The office of the county clerk released to Paddock Publications Wednesday the total assessment figures of four local schools. In all except Mount Prospect, school district No. 57, the totals were much higher than was expected by the school heads.

Arlington Heights high school district expected a total of $80 million. Instead it is $81,244,424. District 25 is $36,217,595; Prospect Heights $5,144,955; District 57, $18,995,838.

Mount Prospect had hopes that its school would have a valuation of $20,000,000.

Assessment of Palatine Community Consolidated School Dist. No. 15 is $25,389,134; Palatine high school $28,956,873.

Arlington Heights school district No. 25 has nearly twice as much valuation as Palatine high school.

The Elk Grove tax rate will be announced Thursday; others will follow.

Legal Schedule Completed; Need Funds For Basic Development

The Northwest Community Hospital Center's development program got off to a great start at the first meeting of its board of trustees held February 16.

Eleven prominent civic leaders were elected as trustees. According to the By-Laws twenty-two additional leaders will be elected during the year. The board members are: Richard L. Bronwell, Wheeling township; William A. Gerbosi, Wheeling township; Carl Hammerl, Elk Grove township; Roy LaLonde, Palatine township; Joseph Brandt, Palatine township; Stuart R. Paddock, Wheeling township; Maurice B. Pendleton, Elk Grove township; Ted Seiler, Wheeling township; Edward Haseman, Palatine township; Ralph E. Gould, Elk Grove township; and Charles J. Walters, Palatine township. Three members are to be selected immediately from Barrington township and one from Schaumburg township.

By unanimous vote Ross Garrett, nationally prominent consultant in hospital organizational affairs, was elected acting chairman of the board of trustees. Kenath Hartman, local resident and graduate of Northwestern University in hospital administration and assistant superintendent of Wesley Memorial in Chicago, was named acting secretary to assist Garrett in coordinating the activities of the board. Other officers elected were: vice-chairman representative of Palatine township, Charles Walters; vice-chairman representative of Wheeling township, William A. Gerbosi; vice-chairman representative of Elk Grove township, Maurice Pendleton; vice-chairman for Barrington and Schaumburg to be announced later; and treasurer, Carl Hammerl.

JOSEPH BRANDT was appointed by Garrett as chairman of the financial development committee to coordinate the fund-raising program of the townships. Ted Seiler was appointed chairman of a special committee to make recommendations to the board for the location of the Hospital Center. Other committee appointments were: Charles Walters, chairman of the legal committee; Stuart Paddock, chairman of the public education committee; and Edward Haseman, chairman of a special committee to recommend a bonding and insurance company.

The By-Laws adopted provide a corporate structure of four classes of memberships — associate, active, sustaining and honored members. Active, sustaining and honored members will be those contributing amounts of money varying from ten dollars up. These corporate members will vote at annual meetings for a thirty-three member board of trustees, representative of the townships being served. An executive committee of the board of trustees will constitute the governing body between meetings of the board of trustees, which will meet quarterly. The By-Laws also provide that the attending medical staff will consist of qualified physicians in the townships served by the hospital.

GARRETT advised the board of the necessity of having a medical advisory committee to consist of local physicians in developing future plans. Their unanimous approval was given to Garrett and Hartman to ask the assistance of the local physicians to form an advisory committee.

The legal structure has been completed according to Illinois state laws for the corporation to receive tax-free contributions. Money is urgently needed to begin the basic development program. Any individual or organization who wishes to send contributions may do so by mailing them to Joseph Brandt, 10 N. Northwest highway, Palatine. Checks are to be made to the Northwest Community Hospital Center. All contributions will be acknowledged as soon as membership cards are printed.

Campaign Ends With Final Statements; Expect Record Vote

The great interest that is being shown in the Arlington Heights high bond issue election Saturday means that the vote will probably equal that cast at the November 1952 election.

The high school board seeks approval of a $2,500,000 bond issue to be used to erect a second four-year high school on Foundry rd. It bases the need for such a school upon the present attendance in the 12 elementary schools in the area.

The opposition claims that those figures are not correct and ask that in place of a new building that an addition be added to the present school plant. This group also claims that a more detailed study of the situation should be made and that nothing will be lost by a delay in any major construction at this time.

The advocates for the new school are just as insistent that immediate action is necessary in order to have the class rooms ready when the great influx of elementary school children pass through the eighth grade. The move-in factor is controversal.

A resume of the claims of both sides in the school election controversy with final statements from both, and Fence Post articles on the subject, as well as where to cast your vote, appear on pages two and three of feature section.

Pages 2 and 3 of this issue are devoted almost exclusively to statements by the two groups. Letters on the high school election in The Fence Post last week and again this week has crowded off the feature page a number of regular columns. Voters who look over this issue will be well informed regarding the issues at stake.

Boy Scout Saves Young Children In Home Fire

The bravery of two small Palatine children, four and six years old and a 12-year-old boy scout is credited with the prevention of a serious fire and possible loss of life.

The fire, supposedly caused by a defective light cord, broke out Friday afternoon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burrus, 19 S. Linden, Palatine. Mrs. Burrus was at a neighbor's house at the time. Her children were taking naps. Little Mary was awakened by smoke and called her brother, Bobby. A living room couch was on fire. The children tried to extinguish the blaze with water.

Donald Funston, 12-years old, a boy scout, saw smoke and fire coming out of a vent in the roof He rushed in, ordered the two children out of doors when Mrs. Burrus rushed home as childrtn cried. "Your house is on fire." She found Donald pouring water on the couch. Between the two of them they got the couch out of he house. The firemen extinguished the blaze and removed the smoke from the premises.

Announce Plans For Catholic Boys' High School In Des Plaines

The Chancery office of the Archdiocese of Chicago announced this week that a new Catholic high school for boys will be erected on Dempster st., between Milwaukee and Harlem aves., Des Plaines.

The ground breaking ceremony will be held May 1, and the school will be completed in September, 1955. Operated by the Holy Cross Fathers of Notre Dame, the school will accommodate 1,200 students.

The school will serve residents of this area and others on a first come first served basis. The announcement of these plans were made public at all the Sunday masses of St. James and Our Lady of the Wayside Catholic churches in Arlington Heights, St. Raymond's church in Mount Prospect and St. Mary's church in Buffalo Grove.

THE SCHOOL will be erected on a 30 acre site and will be built at a cost of more than two million dollars.

The north side Catholic parish in Arlington Heights, St. James, is still undergoing building changes. The new rectory recently purchased on State rd., is being completely remodeled and a new garage is being built.

An addition is being built at the convent to accommodate the nuns who will be necessary to complete the faculty at the school next year. A new chapel is also being built at the convent.

St. James school will have a new eight room addition which will also include a principal's office and basement. This new addition to the school will accommodate 320 to 350 additional children. This building program will cost more than a quarter of a million dollars.

Full Report Ordered On Meters, Off-street Parking and Bus Service

Evrell Plank, chairman of the parking committee of the Plan Commission, was directed last week to prepare in writing a narrative comprehensive report outlining the installation of meters, purchase of off-street parking areas and establishment of extended bus service for commuters.

The plan commission approved a subdivision covering 11 lots on Schoenbeck, Ridge and Elm ave., west of Prospect Heights, outside of the corporate limits of the village.

Approval was also given to the vacation of a alley parallel to Kirchhoff road between and Mitchell and Ridge aves. if and when the land lying between the alley and Kirchhoff road is rezoned.

The plat and subdivision committee after considerable discussion with respect to the proposal to re-locate the Tri-State Expressway eastward, the commission concluded that the expressway should be re-located to run east of the disposal plant along Waterman avenue, then swerve back west along the southwest corner of Rolling Green Country Club property to join original proposal at Oakton street. The reason for this proposed re-location is to remove the expressway as far as possible from present established residential areas within the village The exact position is to be established by the county engineers, after which it is suggested that the land be marked for the guidance of future prospective subdividers and individuals who may wish to construct homes along this strip.

Promise Better Service In Request For New Phone Rates

A new telephone plan providing toll-free calling from Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect and Prospect Heights to Bensenville, Palatine and six other nearby communities was part of a request for increased rates filed by the Illinois Bell telephone company last week with the Illinois commerce commission in Springfield.

If approved after hearings before the commission, the proposal would replace present service plans now being offered in Arlington Heights. All telephones in the state served by Illinois Bell would get increases which vary by size of the community.

ALSO INCLUDED in the Company's proposal for Arlington Heights are:

- A new message rate service for customers with limited calling needs.

- A longer initial talking period on calls to many more distant suburban Illinois points but still within about 28 miles of downtown Chicago - five minutes instead of three.

- Pricing of all calls made beyond the extended flat rate calling area to other points within the metropolitan area on a generally lower message unit basis.

W. C. Lathen, Illinois Bell manager said the company is mailing each customer a folder explaining the details of the proposal.

The manager pointed out that basic wage rates of Illinois Bell workers are up 132 per cent since 1940 and recent wage increases will make the 1954 total even higher. Other costs have gone up, too.

"IN 1940 the average investment required to provide service for one telephone was $220, while today the new telephone going in requires about a $400 investment," the manager pointed out.

The manager said the new rate plan is a result of the company's studies of the changes in calling habits of the community resulting from its tremendous growth since 1940.

"For example, more people now living in suburbs have business and social interests in Chicago, or in other nearby communities. The new services are 'tailor-made' to meet the needs of most customers better."

Arlington Heights customers using the extended area flat rate service plan would be able - for the basic monthly charge - to make as many calls as they want and talk as long as they wish to Mount Prospect, Wheeling Bensenville, WoodDale, Itasca, Palatine, Roselle and Bloomingdale.

Message rate customers could call all the above places (their community calling area) and talk as long as they want for one unit. Their basic monthly charge would include a considerable number of message units (see table below) which they could use either for calls to telephones in the enlarged community calling area or for calls to other points in the Chicago metropolitan area, which are charged at two or more units.

Mercury Agency To Open In Arlington Heights

Roto Mercury Sales has rented the vacant garage at 302 N. Evergreen, Arlington Heights. Announcement of opening date will be delayed until the quarters, which were used by Grigsby Allison, can be made ready.

At present Crystal Lake and Park Ridge are the nearest communities which have Mercury agencies.

Rolling Meadows Mail Service Starts

Door to door mail delivery service from the Arlington Heights post office for Rolling Meadows started Wednesday morning with Casey Kujawski as carrier. Residents are asked to send notice of change of address to correspondents, newspaper offices and magazines in order to avoid an unnecessary delay.

Vehicle Licenses Must Be Displayed by March 1

Many auto owners may have delayed the purchase of 1954 license plates and more of them have not taken the time to buy village stickers, thus Arlington Heights police expect to give out a lot of tickets after next Monday. There is no reduction in price for early purchase, but there is a fine for those who don't have the vehicle tags purchased and displayed on their windshields by March 1.

Note To Advertisers: 1,005 More

Paddock Publications is happy to announce total distribution has jumped another 110 this week to 16,310, exactly 1,005 more copies of the eight editions than reported in the Post Office Sworn Circulation date of October 1, 1953. In these days of changing business conditions Paddock Publications now reaches local homes at a lower unit cost than ever before.

Northwest Heighters Activities

Moved

Mr. and Mrs. James Colvin, formerly of 927 Race ave., have moved to their new home at 1319 Watling road in Sherwood. The Colvins have just returned from a week in New York city where they stayed at the Hotel Plaza. Mr. Colvin was there on business but they were able to get out every night to see the city and take in the current Broadway hits.

Girl Scouts

Girl Scouts of troop 19 have been very busy these last weeks in preparation for their good grooming badge. The girls went to Jack's Swirl Ship where one girl had her hair cut and another had her hair shampooed and set in explanation of the details of good hair grooming. Last Tuesday evening, at their regular meeting in the home of Mrs. Loechl they enjoyed a talk on dental hygiene. Next week their attention will be given to the care of the nails.

Neighborhood Doings

Several of the Northwest Heighters attended the Bonnet Brunch held at Sportsman's Country club Tuesday afternoon. Those in attendance from the community were Mrs. A. Hall, Mrs. Gladys McPhail, Mrs. Betty Husky, Mrs. Florence Palmer, Mrs. Dorothy Fox, Mrs. Mary Clore, Mrs. Bernice Moles and Mrs. Vincent Cunningham. This affair was sponsored by the Mothers' club of St. James as part of their efforts to raise the funds for a much needed addition to their school.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McGough entertained several couples from the neighborhood for dinner last Saturday evening. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. R. DeZur, Mr.and Mrs. J. Almdale, Mr. and Mrs. P. Stevenson and Mr. and Mrs. W. Shay.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Ehrke and their daughter, Mary, went to South Haven, Michigan, last weekend to visit Mrs Ehrke's mother, Mrs. Sawyer.

Mr.and Mrs. Joesph C. Morici Sr. are in line for congratulations. The Moricis celebrated their thirty-third wedding anniversary February 23.

Birthdays

Johnny Holloway celebrated his second birthday February 20 by taking his first train ride, which is probably the best birthday present a little boy of 2 could ask for.

Tooth Decay

Dental scientists declare tooth decay can be reduced between 50 and 60 per cent by brushing and rinsing the teeth immediately after eating.

NEW Telephone Plan Proposed to Replace Present types of Service in ARLINGTON HEIGHTS

TWO SERVICES "TAILOR-MADE" FOR YOU!

EXTENDED AREA FLAT RATE SERVICE—All Arlington Heights customers using this service plan would have toll-free calling to: Bensenville, Wood Dale, Itasca, Palatine, Roselle, Bloomingdale, Wheeling and Mount Prospect. Basic monthly service rates will be higher but some customers will save on calls to metropolitan points. For details, see the folder we are mailing you.

NEW MESSAGE RATE SERVICE ALSO AVAILABLE—for customers with limited calling needs.

As you know, our community has grown tremendously since 1940. With this growth, there has been a big change in people's telephone calling habits. For example, more people now living in suburbs have business and social interests in Chicago, or in other nearby communities.

We've studied these changes to find out how to make our service fit the needs of our customers better. As a result, we recently proposed a new telephone plan "tailor-made" to the needs of the community and to replace the present service plan. The new plan would provide Extended Area Flat Rate Service to serve about the same area as the present Metropolitan Service. It would also provide a new Message Rate Service, better suited for customers with limited calling needs. These proposals were made to the Illinois Commerce Commission. If approved after hearings before the Commission, they will replace the present service plan.

You will have a choice of TWO SERVICES

1. Extended Area Flat Rate Service

If you make many calls to nearby communities, this will be the better service for you. You'll be able to make as many calls as you want in your calling area—and talk as long as you please—toll free!

On calls to other communities in the Chicago Metropolitan Area (meaning suburban Illinois points within about 30 miles of downtown Chicago) calls will be charged as local "units"—at less than standard toll charges. This and many other important details are explained in the folder being mailed to all our customers.

The initial talking period to all Chicago Metropolitan Area points will be five minutes, where in some cases it has been three minutes. Another saving for you!

2. Message Rate Service

(One and two party residence lines and one-party business lines.)

With this service, you get an allowance of message units at a minimum rate, usable for calls anywhere in the Chicago Metropolitan Area.

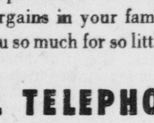

Message Rate Service will fit your needs and save you money—

IF you don't make many calls.

IF—you do not make many calls to telephones within your own or neighboring communities but do call frequently telephones in the Chicago Metropolitan Area.

Under this plan, calls will be charged at one unit within your community calling area. Beyond it, calls in the Chicago Metropolitan Area will be charged at two or more units. However, your regular monthly service rate allows you a considerable number of these units before there is any extra charge for calls.

Complete information on Extended Area Flat Rate and Message Rate Service is contained in this folder which is being mailed to you. Don't fail to read it!

The folder you will receive will explain these services, give you a map of your toll-free calling area and tell you the method of charging for calls under each service. Please read it carefully and then if you have any questions, or if you do not receive this folder soon, please call your service representative at our Business Office. She will be glad to help you.

On one-unit calls you can talk as long as you like. And the initial talking period on all other calls within the Chicago Metropolitan Area will be five minutes.

WHY HIGHER RATES?

Your monthly charge will be higher. But the value of your service also will be greater.

Increases are necessary because Inflation continues to increase our costs. Biggest cost item, wage rates, has gone up 132% since 1940. An installer's truck which cost us $901 now costs $2,224! Copper has gone from $10.69 to $29.88 per hundred lbs. A telephone pole that cost $15 now costs more than $40. And so it goes. Most of the things we use to provide your telephone service have just about doubled in price!

Yet we must continue to meet the needs of our customers. We must continue to provide the kind of service you need today, keeping it good where it is good, making it better where it should be better. Even with the rate adjustments we are asking, telephone service will still be one of the biggest bargains in your family budget. Few things give you so much for so little as your telephone.

We will gladly answer your questions—call us, ILLINOIS BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

How To Remove Paint Stains

Oil base paints. The essential problem of removing paint stains caused by oil base paints is that of dye and pigment removal. The oil portion of the stain presents a problem similar to that of all grease and fat stains, and is not especially difficult if the stain is not allowed to get old.

The pigment, being a solid, usually has to be tamped out. If the stain is fresh, the oil and pigment are not yet in permanent bond, and again removal is relatively simple.

The dye, depending on the color, is usually removable. Again the most important single determining factor is the freshness of the stain.

In other words, this type of stain can be removed in most instances, if the garment is spotted and cleaned as soon after staining as possible. WITHIN 48 TO 72 HOURS AFTER STAINING ARE THE MAXIMUM OUTSIDE LIMITS FOR SAFETY. After that period of time, the oil has "set" and then removal becomes increasingly more and more difficult, and eventually impossible.

Water emulsion paints. These paints are easy to mix and apply, and have become extremely popular for interior decoration. Most manufacturers claim water fastness for many of these paints after a drying period of from 4 to 30 days.

What all this amounts to is this:

IN THE MAJORITY OF CASES, THESE STAINS CAN BE REMOVED IF CAUGHT EARLY. BRING YOUR GARMENT IN AS SOON AS POSSIBLE AFTER STAINING.

Our spotting department is familiar with all techniques necessary for paint removal.

All you have to do—let us repeat—is not let time work on these stains and fix them permanently. Time may be a wonderful healer for what ails the human soul but it works havoc on garments.

CIRCLING THE TOWN

BY PHYLLIS KNIGHT

This Saturday voters will decide the issue of the proposed second high school for this district. The question appears to be whether to proceed with new facilities in the way the school board proposes—by erecting the second building on the Foundry rd. site—or not. There does not seem to be a question of whether or not additional facilities—of some sort—will be needed.

One question asked us this past week is why does the enrollment of the high school in its projected figures fluctuate slightly from year to year?

The answer is because classes in the elementary schools of the district vary in size. Even with enrollments generally increasing year by year, there is an occasional instance of a "freak" where a graduating class may be smaller than the one which preceeded it.

When we visited Woman's Education day at the high school last week—highly interesting, by the way—some one asked which school would serve which part of the area. Superintendent L. J. Knoeppel, while stating that no one could say for sure, said that present thinking would indicate that this high school would serve Arlington public and parochial school children, those of the Wilson and Forest View districts and those from Rolling Meadows. Exceptions in the cases of those much more conveniently located to the other school—for instance children of Prospect Meadows who attend Arlington elementary schools but live across the road from the Foundry rd. site—would be allowed to go there.

The school would probably be opened as a two-year school in 1956, with freshmen from the new school area and sophomores living in that vicinity transferring from the old school. The next two years' graduates of the grade schools which would be feeding the new building would go there, and then it would be a four-year school.

Boys and girls who will be attending the Arlington building between now and 1956—when the proposed building would be ready—would not be transferred with the exception of the to-be-sophomores, who would, of course, be the "kingpins" of the new building and its first graduating class.

"Why," others have asked, "must a new school be built now?" The answer to that one is that a high school building is a more complicated matter than a grade school. Equipment is more complex and more specialized. It will take at least two years for the second school to be finished.

And finally, "Why don't we spend this money (for school bonds) on additional grade schools where the need is more immediate?" The reason is that the law limits bonding power of school districts to five per cent of their assessed valuation, and in Arlington Heights we are at this limit. The recently authorized construction was possible only because assessed valuation increased and some previously-issued bonds had been retired.

Polling places—located at the Village Hall and the high school for residents of Arlington Heights—will be open from 12 noon until 7 p.m. Saturday.

Bonnet Brunch

Unique in title and theme, the Mothers' club of St. James Catholic church entertained themselves and their guests Tuesday at a "Bonnet Brunch."

Brunch was served at noon at Sportsman's Country Club, and was followed by modeling of spring "Hats by Sue" by members of the club. Several prizes were taken home by the luckier of the visitors, but all agreed they were lucky to see the pleasant program and relax in such attractive surroundings.

Proceeds are being used to benefit the new addition to St. James school.

R. E. Clabaugh, superintendent of schools, Arlington Heights, has been invited to attend the ninth annual Superintendents Conference March 19, at National College of Education, Evanston.

More than 200 superintendents from Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan have been invited to discuss "The Next Decade —A Challenge to Educational Leadership," the conference theme. The conferences are sponsored by the private teachers' college to give public school administrators the opportunity to acquaint themselves with new developments in teacher-education and to exchange ideas and information.

National College of Education, founded in 1886, is the nation's oldest private elementary teachers' college. Administrators attending the conference will observe college classes as well as visit the Children's school and educational Guidance Center which are a part of National College of Education.

Dr. K. Richard Johnson, president of National College of Education; Dr. E. T. McSwain, dean of education at Northwestern University, and Dr. Kenneth E. Howe, director of the Children's School at National College of Education, will be among the conference speakers.

File For Reelection To Elementary Board

V. L. Bedingfield and James E. Wood, whose terms on the Arlington Heights elementary board of education, District 25, expire this year, have filed petitions as candidates for reelection, according to M. L. Kurtz, secretary.

Bedingfield, who resides at 612 N. Dunton ave., has served six years as a member of the board. He is employed by the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company and has been a resident of Arlington Heights for 12 years. Bedingfield's experience in banking and the fact that he has served on the board through the period of rapid expansion of the school system, enable him to make excellent contributions to the board's deliberations.

The Bedingfields have a son and a daughter in high school, a daughter in fifth grade and a pre-school son who will enter kindergarten next year.

Wood has lived at 1106 Clarendon rd. since he moved to Arlington Heights with his family in 1939. Mr. and Mrs. Wood have a daughter in high school, a son in third grade, and a daughter and a son in junior high school. As a member of the board he is completing his first three-year term. He is widely known in the community and is keenly interested in civic affairs and local school problems.

Wood is a graduate of the University of Vermont, coming to Chicago in 1934. He is employed by Montgomery, Ward and Company.

Seize Animals; Claimed Mistreated By Farmer; Judge Questions Right

The seizure of a whole menagerie of farm animals, winged and footed, from the farm of Chester Piasecki at Golf and Washington roads, near Des Plaines, on Dec. 10 by Mrs. Irene Castle Enzinger of Orphans of the Storm, Deerfield, an anti-eruelty group, drew criticism Monday by Superior Judge James R. Bryant.

The animals seized consisted of three chickens, two geese, 25 ducks, one male and two female goats, seven kids, a bull, a heifer, and 20 pigs. Mrs. Enzinger claimed they were all being ill-fed, ill-watered and mis-treated. A $25 fine was imposed on Piasecki, who is 63 and lives at 1217 Oakton, Evanston, in Milwaukee avenue Sheriff's court, which is being appealed.

In the Superior court, action, Mrs. Enzinger asks a lien on the animals to pay for their feed bill, while the farmer has filed a counter-claim asking return of the critters or $3,000 for their value plus $5,000 damages.

After a preliminary hearing Monday, Judge Bryant declared he was "amazed and shocked that any individual or organization could think they had a right to seize private property, which has been zealously guarded in the history of jurisprudence."

Attorney William Sheridan, representing Orphans of the Storm, replied that "only by such action can cruelty sometimes be prevented."

Judge Bryant said he would not decide the case until a further hearing Feb. 24, adding he had no quarrel with Orphans of the Storm for charitable acts, and that "your theory may be sound but the right is in question."

Washington's Birthday Observed At Assembly

Washington's birthday was observed by an assembly program for the children of Wheeling Community school presented by the pupils of the fifth grade, under the direction of Mrs. Snetsinger and Mrs. Tiedtke, last Monday.

February 26 the Cole Marionettes will present a marionette show, "Jason and the Golden Fleece," at 10:30 a. m., which parents and pre-schoolers are welcome to attend. In order to defray expenses a charge of 10c per child will be made, which should be brought to the teacher by Thursday morning by the children attending the school. Parents and pre-school children may pay at the door. The charge for parents will be 20c.

The Junior Red Cross Drive will begin March 1. The magazine subscription drive will begin March 22.

School will be recessed for Easter vacation after school April 9 and classes will resume April 19.

This rough and tumble scene from "See How They Run," starts off a hilarious chain of events. Penelope Toop (Gladys Kuhn) and Clive Winton (Don Stephan) rough it up while Miss Skillon (Helen Bodelson) pleads with them to stop.

Play will be presented by Palatine Players at Cutting Hall on March 19 and 20.

Extra-Curricular Clubs, Activities Give Students Social, Physical Outlets

The addition of an astronomy club this year brings the total of extra-curricular clubs and activities at Arlington Heights high school to 31.

These groups are organized to provide an opportunity for interested students to study beyond their class assignments to provide for group study of subjects not in the curriculum, and to provide social and physical activities for those not interested in the regular sports program.

MEMBERS of the faculty sponsor every group, helping to organize the programs, supervising the handling of funds, if any, and chaperoning out of school trips as well as after school meetings.

Each of the clubs is self-supporting, raising funds for its activities by membership dues, concessions, giving dances, and similar activities. Many go beyond the point of self-support and contribute funds for the purchase of audio-visual equipment, are objects, musical instruments, and other things for the school. For instance, the trampoline was given to the school by the "A" Club, and the grand piano was purchased in large part by funds contributed by these groups. Club funds are kept in special accounts in the school business office and are audited regularly.

Students are enthusiastic about these activities, and all have large memberships, with many students taking part in the programs of four or more groups. Teachers are particularly interested in the opportunity offered by action within a group for social and political development of the student.

IN ADDITION to the extra-curricular activities, several activities, such as the concert band and other musical groups, are offered as part of the curriculum, but including much after-school participation.

The extra-curricular activities and clubs are as follows: Aeronautics Club, "A" Club (lettermen), astronomy club, Audio-visual club, Baton Twirlers, Biology club, Cardinal (newspaper), Cheerleaders, Chemistry club, Dance Band, Daubers club (art), Distributive Education club, Future Farmers of America, Future Homemakers of America, French club, German club, Girls Athletic association, Heights (yearbook), Latin club, Library club, Madrigals, Math club, National Honor Society, National Forensics League, Paint and Wig (dramatics), Pep club, Quill and Scroll (journalism), Social Science club, Spanish club, Student council and Thespian Society.

MOUNT PROSPECT

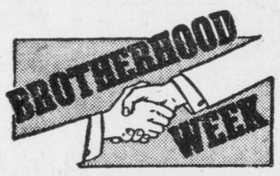

By JIM REDWANZ and KENT PETELLE

English Gets His Woman!

Phil English, a promising young field scout executive, currently employed by the Northwest Suburban Council, was put into the final stage of cupid's work Saturday when he married Louise Gerhardt at the Lutheran Church of the Hour in Chicago. They are now honeymooning in the Smoky Mountains. Congratulations, Phil.

Well Done Indeed!

One of the highest awards given in scouting is the Gold Medal for Life Saving. It is given to scouts who, in doing their valorous deeds, risk their lives to save another. The medal of merit is given to boys who save another person's life but do not have to risk their own. Just such an event occurred Monday when Jim Redwanz, a member of post 707, was walking home with one of his friends. They were talking about school as they approached Euclid. Jim's friend, without looking, stepped off the curb into the path of an onrushing truck. If it were not for the quick thinking Redwanz, this boy may have been seriously injured.

This being National Brotherhood week, this column believes it is only proper to put in a few words on the subject. Remember, scouts, a scout is friendly. He is friendly to everyone! It isn't fitting to despise a person due to his color, race, or creed.

United Opens Refresher Course For Bus Drivers

United Motor Coach Co. has recently started a series of three day refresher courses being offered to all United bus operators.

The refresher course is being directed by Elmer R. Schuemann, superintendent of safety and transportation.

A portion of the course is spent in the bus stop where superintendent of maintenance John Klein instructs the various groups of drivers in the safe operation of a motor bus and in the ways that they can help to eliminate mechanical difficulties.

The refresher course is being received with a great deal of interest and enthusiasm by United operators and is also drawing attention throughout the transportation industry. Chris Imhoff, staff representative of the transit section of the national safety council recently spent a day at United attending the course and studying the safety section of the program.

'Snow White' Heads Ice Capades At Arena

The multi-hued Ice Capades of 1954 is cloaked with the most gorgeous costumes ever designed. Jam-packed with romance, beauty and comedy, and staged against a background of expressive and colorful settings, this all-new fourteenth annual edition magnificently unfolds its smooth and beautiful story on the wings of enchanted blades.

High point is imaginative and completely new version of Walt Disney's fabulous fairy tale of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," featuring the King and Queen of the Ice—lovely Donna Atwood and dashing Bobby Specht — as Snow White and Prince Charming. All the unforgettable Disney music is retained and the first appearance of the seven dwarfs on the ice in masterful makeup brings forth the largest ovations ever heard at an ice show.

Labor Forum

"What Kind of a National Labor Law Do We Need?" This question will be discussed by a labor leader, a management official and a clergyman at the first session of the 1954 John A. Ryar Forums, to be held February 26 aa 8:00 p. m. in the Morrison Hotel, Chicago.

Farm Machinery Manufacturers Hiring Again

Manufacturers of farm machinery are recalling workers. This important industry spent almost all last year in its own private recession. If this slump is now ending, if may be a good omen for other similarly affected groups.

The slump in farm equipment began last March and April. Dealers had bought tractors, plows, and other planting and ground-preparing equipment at 1952's lavish rate. They couldn't sell it. As the year went on layoffs mounted. At 1953's low tide, employment was 12,000 or 15,000 workers below 1952's high. It would have fallen more, but machinery makers had other lines to which they could shift men.

REHIRING has far to go to retrace its way to the 1952 peaks. Probably half will be called back by April 1. But it does represent a reversal of the downtrend.

Significance for all the rest of us is that farm machinery inventories have been worked down, and production is starting back up, without any of the inflationary remedies which have been urged to combat the supposed recession. At least, this shows that natural recovery can happen. At most, it offers encouragement for sitting tight and refusing to get panicky, while each industry works out its own problems.

For most industries — as the December-to-January decline in the federal reserve board production index discloses — the low point is still ahead. But there are signs that it can be reached and passed — without the help of renewed deliberate inflation.

Hold Talent Tryouts; Set Dates For Show

Tryouts for participants in the Talent show to be presented by the students of Arlington Heights high school, March 19 and 20, were completed last week.

Jerry Johnson and Doug Winkleman will share the master of ceremonies job. Twenty-eight acts have been selected, including vocal and instrumental solos, duets and ensembles; specialty acts; and both individual and group dances.

Among the larger groups represented are each of the four classes, the Girls' club, Junior Girls, Senior Girls, and Senior Boys.

"Western Wing-Ding" is the name chosen for the show and is descriptive of the theme.

A winner and honorable mention will be picked in each of the three categories: class skits, singles, and group acts.

DesPlaines Chapter, Women of the Moose

Des Plaines chapter 835, Women of the Moose, held ritual night February 11. Four new members were initiated and guests from the men's lodge were present. There were also visitors from Portage Park, Crystal Lake and California.

Death Valley Days dance was held at Moose hall February 20.

Miss Loretta Schumann has received her achievement pin, Miss Edith Engel is recuperating from her accident, and Miss LaVerne Fries is recovering from a recent operation.

First Prize in the Picture Story Class of the 1953 Graflex Photo Contest went to Ernest G. Reed of Pasadena, California. Titled, "Picture Story of a Child's Bath," the series was made with a 4 x 5 Pacemaker Speed Graphic in 1/100 sec. at f/16.

SUCCESSFUL PICTURE STORIES

Shooting a series of pictures that tells a complete story in itself is a challenge that most photographers would like to meet. Unfortunately, few of you ever try it. The consensus seems to be that picture stories lie entirely in the realm of the experienced professional.

As far as I'm concerned, this argument doesn't hold water. Anyone who can take a good single picture can shoot a good picture story. The photographic technique remains the same. It just takes a little more thought and planning.

The first thing to decide is if the subject you are planning to photograph is a good and interesting subject to begin with. This may seem elementary, but it's surprising how much valuable photographic time is wasted on subjects which have no intrinsic interest and which no amount of excellent photography can make anything but dull.

The next step in approaching a picture story photographically is to find the one best visual thing to do with it. The fresh way to look at it . . . the most graphic way to present it compactly. This is where many photograpers go astray. They lose all clarity, detail and punch by trying to tell a story that is too big. A story like "The Life of My Child," usually falls completely flat . . . it's too big a subject. Better to cover a part of his or her life, like a day, or better still restrict it to a highlight of a single day, like bath time. Proof of the success of this idea can be found in the picture illustrating this column which is part of the series that won first prize in the Picture Story Class in last year's Graflex Photo Contest.

To shoot a successful picture story, then . . .

1) Pick a subject.
2) Decide on what one thing it is that interested you in the subject in the first place.
3) Figure out the best way to make that particular part of your subject not only exciting visually but a graphic representation of your own feelings about it.
4) Shoot just that, and nothing more.

An Informal Tour of the TV World

Pinky Lee Pretty Lousy . . .

PINKY LEE and pretty lousy were quick entries in our book of synonyms when we viewed his new daytime show (WNBQ-4 p. m.) recently. As has been evident in his several television flings, he has nothing more than an asinine brand of talent definitely more fitting for something like a burlesque theatre.

Realizing that many people feel the same as we do about the guy, we were naturally astounded when informed last week by VARIETY, the show biz bible, that the Lee show now ranks second in the nation in popularity during the sunlit hours. Only receiver of a better rating was HOWDY DOODY.

Following down the line were such ultimately better programs as ARTHUR GODFREY (Yes, we even prefer Artha to Pinky), STRIKE IT RICH and ARTHUR LINKLETTER'S HOUSE PARTY. In an effort toward fairness, we would like to hear from anyone with a kind word for Lee. We dare you to write!

'Morning' Debuts March 15 . . .

CBS will make its first effort at waker-upper time telecasting March 15 with the debut of THE MORNING SHOW with WBBM-TV the local outlet from 7-8 a. m. With WALTER CRONKITE the emcee, the show expects to be a healthy rival for NBC's TODAY. Our guess—It might even be better.

Slated to be at least a temporary filler for the spot formerly held by the JACK "I went down kissing" EIGEN show at 11:15 p. m. Mondays on WBKB is a deal called THE GUEST HOUSE with general chatter, music and interviews. Due to guest next Monday are FRAN ALLISON and BURR TILLSTROM.

Slated to go into production soon for TV is the old radio favorite WE THE PEOPLE with, you guessed it, GABRIEL HEATER pacted as commentator . . . A new MICKEY ROONEY film series is soon due to replace the SPIKE JONES program on NBC and WNBQ Saturday nights at 8.

More Ballet For TV . . .

NBC officials are now looking into the possibility of presenting ballet on television with increased vigor. Reason: The competitive CBS network got excellent ratings with the 17-minute showing of the SADLER'S WELLS group a few weeks ago on TOAST OF THE TOWN.

Robert P. Benjamin, a 24-year old engineer for a Bethesda, Md., firm, is reported to have invented a color TV converter that might be put on the market in the near future for as little as $50. This would seemingly be quite a saving from the $1,000 tag that's been placed on new color sets.

The new hour-long video version of the LUX THEATER transfers to NBC from CBS in August . . . Scheduled to be axed: MAN AGAINST CRIME—Dumont network (WGN-TV), TOPPER and MY FRIEND IRMA—CBS (WBBM-TV) and RAY BOLGER and PRIDE OF THE FAMILY—ABC (WBKB). RED BUTTONS' continuation on CBS is doubtful.

Wins First Place In School Photo Contest

His prize winning entry is a picture of three deer feeding beside a small stream with a wooded hillside in the background.

Tom Massman, sophomore, won the honorable mention award in both Class A and Class D. David Nelson, sophomore, won the class B award. Charles Watson, junior, won in class C.

All entries in the contest, numbering about 50, will be entered in the National High School Photographic Awards contest, sponsored by the National Scholastic Press association and the Eastman Kodak company.

Wins Television Photo Contest; Plan Special Contest For This Area

Tom Massmann, 702 N. Vail Arlington Heights, recently won a TDC slide projector for his unusual candid photo of "J. Fred Muggs," Garroway's chimp.

This prize was given in connection with a recent television program "Thru the Camera Eye," over WGN-TV. Local drug stores and camera counters have joined forces with Dumont and Don Hager, local Dumont TV dealer, to sponsor a local contest.

A full page ad in this week's paper explains the Dumont Candid TV-Picture Photo contest. First prize will be an all expense, round trip tour of Washington, D. C., via the airlines, for two people. This award will be made for the most interesting and candid picture some lucky person will take off the picture on a TV set.

Community Concert To Hold Membership Drive In March

The sixth successful year of the Community Concert association is concluding March 7 with Eugene Conley. During this season five concerts have been given starting in the fall with Virtuosi Di Roma, a string ensemble, then The Leslie Bell Singers, a group of 36 lovely girls, followed by Sascha Gorodnitzki, pianist, then Mildred Dilling, the foremost harpist in the world, and finally on March 7 Eugene Conley, Metropolitan Opera star.

There has been ,this year, as in former years, a variety of attractions to meet the tastes and desires of the membership.

MEMBERSHIPS to the Community Concert association are open to anyone and everyone during the one week membership campaign, and only during this one week. No single admissions to any concert are available; the association is entirely a membership proposition.

Memberships to all concerts are $6 for adults and $3.50 for students for the entire concert series.

During the past six years concerts have been given in Arlington Heights by such outstanding artists as Gladys Swarthout, the De Paur Chorus, Mata and Hari, Philharmonic Piano Quartette, the Men of Song, and many others.

The fall and winter season of 1954 and 1955 will again have the top artists in the country to perform for the Community Concert association. The Rochester Symphony Orchestra of 80 pieces will definitely be booked. This is the first time in the history of Arlington Heights that a full symphony orchestra will appear right here in town. This one attraction alone is worth the entire cost of the membership. Other concerts that will be given will be entirely new to the association.

The association is a non-profit organization, all money collected from memberships is spent for talent, with the exception of a few minor expenses. So the more members the association has, the more money is available for talent.

THERE IS THIS one week only that memberships are available—March 8 to 13. And at 5 p.m. March 13, the membership roll is closed and no more are available until the spring of 1955.

It is therefore urgent that all interested people contact the association headquarters in the Public Service company in Arlington Heights or team captains or workers or Mrs. Clarence Hendrickson or Mrs. Gale Blocki, either before March 8 or surely during that week.

The $6 that are spent for these concerts are the greatest bargain available, and the five concerts that have been given this season have provided more than 1300 people five evenings of wonderful entertainment. The concerts have been the cultural highlight of the fall and winter season for all those members who reside in Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Prospect Heights, Wheeling, Palatine and Barrington.

Many volunteers have given of their time and effort to these concerts and it can be made easier for them if everyone will contact them or headquarters just as early in the week of March 8 as possible.

Two Women Hit By Autos; One Hit-Run

Mrs. Walter Elterman, 39, Rt. 83, Prairie View, suffered a broken leg and possible internal injuries Tuesday morning when she was struck by a car while walking along McHenry rd.

She was taken to St. Francis hospital for treatment. Driver of the auto was Charles Schetter of Neenah Falls, Wisconsin. County Highway police are handling the case.

Miss Laura Meyer of Arlington Heights was knocked down by a hit and run driver while walking along Wilke rd. near her home last week. She was not seriously injured and was unable to get the license number of the auto wihch struck her, though she did give the police a general description of the car. Arlington police are investigating.

A total of $176 was collected in the Arlington Heights police traffic court Monday night. Most of the fines were for speeding and a number of the violators were teen-age drivers.

TV NEWS

By Don Hager

Ed Murrow, voted television's outstanding personality, has interviewed many of the world's famous people on his "Person to Person" telecast. Here are some behind the scenes comments by his technical staff on how the celebrities acted.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, for two hours before her appearance on the program, worked quietly at the mail on her desk—her normal evening chore—unperturbed by the cameramen buzzing around her . . . Maj. Gen. William Dean's uniform was not technically correct for the show. One jacket pocket was unflapped to hold a tiny wireless microphone . . . Joe Louis still retains a good habit from his training days. In all the confusion, he just lay down for a quick catnap before the show.

Eva Gabor's favorite color is pink, even in flowers and in the pencils she used to doodle with while waiting . . . Richard Rodgers confessed that his favorite song, of all his many hits, is "Bewitched, Bothered and Bewildered." Mrs. Rodgers, however, prefers "You'll Never Walk Alone."

Tallulah Bankhead waved goodbye to everyone until they were out of sight. It's a Bankhead tradition . . . And British Ambassador Sir Roger Makins broke out beer for the crew after his appearance. You'll feel like breaking out the champagne, no less, when you see the bright, clear pictures you can get on your present set when serviced properly. Paint and Plaster in One Operation

WALLPAPER WALLBOARD CRACKED PLASTER

Here's good news for those who do their own repair and decorating work. A new, proven product, called Plastra-Tone, which paints and plasters in one simple operation, is now available at your local dealer.

Plastra-Tone is more than a paint. It's a new surface for walls and ceilings, completely hiding wallpaper seams or taped wallboard joints. It also seals and covers unsightly cracks and pits in plaster walls and ceilings. In most cases one coat of Plastra-Tone covers any surface, even brick or concrete.

This rubberized alkyd-base paint is so tough it will not chip, scratch or mar. It can be washed, literally scrubbed, many times without fading of the 16 beautiful colors in which it comes.

Plastra-Tone is very easy to apply with either a roller or brush just as it comes from the can, because it is ready-mixed and ready-to-use. It's odorless and dries to a plaster-like, hard sand-finish in a few hours; yet it's flexible and resists strains which break plaster. Since it paints and plasters at the same time—Plastra-Tone is economical to use.

Available in New Decorator Colors, $4.15 per gallon (Deep Colors $4.85)

At Jewel Being Honest With You Comes First . . . . . .

There are a lot of things your Jewel does to serve you . . . . . but your Jewel began with the idea that "being honest with you comes first."

For example, we always include the regular prices of items in our ads along with the special price so that you're able to see exactly how much you save.

Every shelf ticket at your Jewel is clearly marked. And tickets showing the special prices also tell you how much you're saving.

And, at Jewel scales are checked for proper balance twice a day . . . . . once in the morning . . . . . again in the afternoon . . . . . and even more if necessary.

And your Jewel checkers are again reminded of the specials for the week by a "specials" shelf near the check-out counter. So when Mary, your checker, rings up your sale she's always sure to charge the correct sale price.

To Observe Girl Scout Week Mar. 7

Forty-two years ago March 12, the late Juliette Gordon Low gathered together a group of girls in Savannah, Ga., to tell them about the Girl Guide movement in England. It was that little band of 12 which formed the first Girl Scout troop, soon to become the nucleus of a nation-wide organization which now boasts a membership of more than 2,000,000 members.

Following a recommendation made at the organization's thirty-second annual convention last October, Girl Scout Week, formerly observed in October, will be celebrated hereafter in March and will take place during the week which includes March 12.

"Know Your Neighbors—Know Your Nation" will be the slogan for the week, which will open March 7, continuing through March 12. Plans already are under way in Northwest Cook County council to demonstrate this theme through such events as visits to historic sites, the sponsorship of programs designed to recognize new citizens in the community and the setting up of special displays and exhibits.

In communities throughout the United States, Girl Scout Week will be marked by activities dramatizing the various achievements and interests of the Scouts, starting with Sunday, when the girls and their leaders will attend religious services in their own houses of worship. (B4

Favorites for Flavor

By LOIS SEILER

A delightful dessert that will appeal to the homemaker from two standpoints - taste and ease in preparation - is being featured this week.

Danish Apple cake is made from an old Scandanavian recipe belonging to Mrs. Olav Knudsen of 1627 N. Vail, Arlington Heights. It is a refrigerator dessert made of crushed Zweibach and sugar which has been browned in butter and formed into layers with applesauce. It is molded into a round cake with a spatula and then topped with whipped cream. The cake is refrigerated until served.

A rich dessert, this is excellent to serve with coffee when entertaining guests in the afternoon or evening. And it is simple to increase or decrease the quantity of ingredients to serve any size group.

The contributor of today's recipe is a member of the Women's Missionary Society of the Evangelical Free church and the Arlington Knolls Ladies group. The Knudsen's have one daughter Christine, who is four years old.

Danish Apple Cake

16 Zweibach
¾ stick butter or oleo
1 cup sugar
2 cups applesauce (No. 303 can)
½ pint whipping cream

Crush Zweibach into fine crumbs and add sugar. Melt butter or oleo in heavy skillet. Add crumbs and brown, being careful not to burn.

On a small cake plate alternate layers of crumbs and applesauce, starting and finishing with crumbs With a spatula form dessert into a round cake. Top with whipped cream, bringing it down around the sides. Sprinkle with few remaining crumbs for trim.

Place in refrigerator until ready to use. Serves 6.

Nine Churches To Observe World Day Of Prayer

Nine local and neighboring churches will observe The World Day of Prayer by joining in a service at the Methodist meeting house in Arlington Heights March 5 at 1:30 p.m. Christians in 20,000 U. S. communities and in more than 100 countries around the world will be offering prayers for world peace on that day.

The World Day of Prayer, which dates back to 1887, is held the first Friday in Lent each year and is sponsored in this country by the United Church Women, by state and local councils of church women and special prayer groups across the country. Services are held in churches, schools, hospitals — even in fields where migratory farm workers are going out to pick the crops and in trailer camps spread around new defense installations.

The day takes on deep meaning in places like Hiroshima, where hundreds of high school girls pray that no one will suffer again as their city has suffered; in orphanages and shelters in Korea, where the prayer is for peace and a rebuilt country; in a leper village in the Belgian Congo, where a crippled hand turns the pages of the service; even behind the Iron Curtain, where people in Czechoslovakia and East Germany gather for prayer.

THE ORDER OF SERVICE, written each year in a different country, this year is the work of Miss Sarah Chakko, one of India's great Christian leaders. In addition to prayers for peace, the service will include these petitions: that in areas of racial tensions the love of God may bring "the love of all men as brothers"; that in areas of strife, "those who cause suffering may be forgiven, and those who suffer may be purged of resentment and be comforted"; that "the persecuted, the homeless, and lonely" may be lifted from despondency and resignation"; and "those who labor and those who employ others . . . may have right relationships, based on concern for each other."

For years, U. S. World Day of Prayer offerings have given aid in this country to interdenominational church programs to help American Indians on reservations and in industrial centers; to migrant farm families who follow the harvests; to the 30,000 young people from other countries studying in U. S. colleges and universities; to low-income farm families in the rural South and in Puerto Rico.

OVERSEAS, the U. S. offering gives support to interdenominational Christian colleges in India, Pakistan, Japan, and Korea, and to the United Board for Christian Colleges in China to provide scholarships for Chinese women students in other countries. The offering also helps provide Christian literature and literacy material for women and children in Asia, Africa and Latin America.

This year, the church women in America hope the offering will be big enough so they can extend their support to new projects in this country, Alaska, Europe and Africa.

Chruches participating in the local service are: the Methodist, Presbyterian, St. John's Evangelical, and the Evangelical Free church of Arlington Heights; South Community, St. John's Episcopal and Community Presbyterian of Mount Prospect; Community Church of Prospect Heights; and the Community Presbyterian Church of Wheeling. Women of each church will take part, featuring Rev. Mrs. Robert F. Klepper of Prospect Heights as speaker of the day. The public is invited.

Pictured above is a portion of Norman Owen's Studio in Western Springs. The studio was decorated by Richard Young, who will address the Arlington Heights Woman's club March 3 at 1:30 p. m. when they meet at the field house.

Words & Music —

by ERICA FLOYD

The Village Theatre's presentation of "Hansel and Gretel" last Sunday, left nothing to be desired toward the finished production. Scenery, costumes, and make-up were top flight.

To foster the illusion of fairyland and maintain continuity between scenes, the director, Mrs. Robert Hawley, wrote in a part for the sandman to be played in front of the curtain, much to the delight of the children. The cast performed with such realism that the children in the audience felt the were part of the scene unfolding before their eyes.

Because of the number of persons involved in producing the play, it is impossible to give credit by name, but an orchid to all for a job well done.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

That the remedy for hatred, selfishness, and greed is found in the love of God, as taught by Christ Jesus, will be emphasized at Christian Science services Sunday.

In the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Christ Jesus" passages read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include:

"If we wish to follow Christ, Truth, it must be in the way of God's appointing . . . All nature teaches God's love to man, but man cannot love God supremely and set his whole affections on spiritual things, while loving the material or trusting in it more than in the spiritual.

"We must forsake the foundation of material systems, however time-honored, if we would gain the Christ as our only Saviour" (326:3-4, 8-14).

This passage from the Bible will also be among those read:

"How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that bringeth good tidings, that publisheth peace; that bringeth good tidings of good, that publisheth salvation; that saith unto Zion, Thy God reigneth" (Isaiah 52:7).

Beer In Six Billion Cans Last Year

The metal beer can celebrated its 18th year on the American industrial scene in 1953 by setting an all-time production record. American Can Company, which introduced the beer can in 1935, reports that last year the U. S. can-making industry turned out 6,250,000,000 metal containers for beer and ale, a 23 per cent increase over 1952.

From the few thousand produced in 1935, to last year's unprecedented total, the can-making industry provided brewers with a grand total of more than 36 billion cans.

Charge Accounts Buy More Than Those With Their Cash In Hand

A Philadelphia market research firm has prepared a booklet called "Charge Account Behavior of the Human Female." It is solemnly set forth that the charge cusomer buys more than the cash customer. Eight thousand of both were questioned.

About 3.8 times as many charge customers show up in a given store as cash customers. Of 100 shoppers in each category, 57 charge account holders will buy something before they leave the store, whereas 57 of the others will march out with heir money in their pocket.

The firm commissioning the research specializes in installing charge account systems for stores. Even though it has this obvious ax to grind, few husbands of women with charge accounts have disputed the findings.

Illinois TAX FACTS

By George Mahin, Executive Secretary Taxpayers' Federation of Illinois

The taxpayers' federation of Illinois, as part of the national conference of state taxpayer executives composed of statewide taxpayer organizations in 37 states throughout the country, is urging all Illinois members of congress to support the Coudert resolution providing that federal expenditures shall not exceed revenues except in time of war or grave national emergency.

Under the Coudert resolution, the Federal government, like the taxpayer, would have to live within its income. The resolution provides that the expenditures of the Federal government during each fiscal year shall not exceed its revenues for such year except in time of war declared by congress, or during a period of grave national emergency declared by congress by a concurrent resolution. If the Coudert resolution is enacted, it will mean that appropriations made by congress will constitute a ceiling and that the president will be compelled to hold actual spending below that ceiling by whatever amount is necessary to live within actual income. At the same time, this proposal is not inflexible since an unbalanced budget is authorized in time of war or of grave national emergency declared by congress.

The taxpayers' federation of Illinois points out that the federal debt, which already averages more than $6,000 per family and which is costing the taxpayers almost 6½ billion dollars in interest this year, is still going up; and that this continued increase in federal debt is an important cause of inflation and high prices.

Yew One Of Most Useful Evergreens

Taxus or yew is one of the most useful evergreens you can use in your home landscaping. It will grow in sun or shade in almost any soil if there is a normal moisture supply, and in any part of Illinois taxus is easy to prune and keep in shape.

Harleigh Kemmerer, University of Illinois landscaping specialist, says you can buy taxus in almost any shape you need.

Dwarf yew gets no more than four feet high and has a spread of four to eight feet.

SPREADING YEW gets about eight feet tall and has a spread of about eight feet.

Upright and Hatfield yews both get about 10 feet high. They have a six foot spread at the base and a pyramid shape. The Hatfield and dwarf yews make wood hedge plants.

The Hicks yew has about the same dimension as the upright and Hatfield, but it has a flat top and resembles a vase.

Most nurseries handle all kinds of yews, Kemmerer says, and if you study the catalogs you can get exactly what you need.

Even Street Trees Are Killed By Fast City Tempo

City life is tougher than ever on street trees.

Big and small municipalities are losing these tree friends at a record rate. The stepup is caused by the postwar building boom, the expanding traffic problem and the necessary extension of underground and overhead utilities.

At least those are conclusions drawn by Davey tree experts from the experience of Kent, O., officially designated the "Tree City" and their national headquarters.

Kent, with a population of some 12,000, has one of the outstanding tree care plans for a city of its size. For 30 years, the successes of its program, administered by a citizen's shade tree commission, have won national recognition.

Yet Kent, in 1953, found it had to remove many more of its arbor-1 street sentinels than ever before. Of a tree population of some 4,000 about 1½% fell victim of the power saw and axe last year. The average over the preceding ten years was only 1% removals. The Commission attributed the tree mortality upsurge mainly to street widening and construction, Dutch elm disease and traffic hazards.

Communities not boasting Kent's well-planned program are losing more trees proportionately. Davey experts consider street trees a definite civic problem, much as any other phase of a municipality's activities.

Cities without an official Park Department will find it a great civic advantage to form a citizen's group and start administering a tree care program now, according to these authorities.

Old Enough

For best results, dairy cattle should not be bred until at least 60 days after calving.

The Padden Family, 302 North Mozart, Palatine, is the largest-youngest family in that town. When a reporter saw the above group at Bak Studio, he intended to make the heading, "Why Palatine Schools Are Crowded," but as only two of the above are old enough to attend school, the heading is changed to "Why Palatine Grows in Population."

Pictured above are Mary Beth, 6 years old; Richard Joseph, 18 months; Nancy Jane, 2½ years; Barbara Ann, 4 years and Michael, 7½, the big boy of the family, who thinks he is going to be as great a baseball player as his grandfather.

Mr. Padden is employed by U. S. Steel Supply Co. Mrs. Padden may have a large family, but she finds time to hold membership in the Junior Woman's club and the Altar society of St. Theresa church.

Mrs. Arthur R. Hanson VA. 4-4788

Feehanville School

February meeting of the Feehanville PTA opened with the Founder's day program. Mrs. Frank Sullivan, program chairman, introduced the people who took part in the program. There was a poem beautifully read by Mrs. C. W. Flink, interesting biographies of the two Founders, Mrs. Phoebe Apperson Hearst and Alice McLellan Birney, read by Mrs. Kenneth Karnuth and Mrs. Jack Dobbratz, and a message from the president, Mrs. Alma Mueller. Music was furnished by our two accordianists, Judy Olson and Elaine Hanson, who played two solos each. At the conclusion of the program the past presidents were presented lovely nosegays made up of carnations and heather. The past presidents who were lucky enough to be able to attend this meeting were Mrs. Paul Kleeman, Mrs. Stanley Haverkampf and Mrs. Arthur Hanson.

After the opening formalities of the business meeting were disposed of, Mrs. Paul Kleeman, our lunch chairman, gave a report on the progress of the lunch program. She finished with a cordial invitation to the mothers to come and visit the lunchroom.

Mrs. Arthur Hanson, the health chairman, reported on the meeting with Mrs. Cavett, our upper grades teacher, and Miss Means, the district nurse, Febrary 2. Following the lines of the health program being set up by the County, we will need PTA mothers to give both the hearing and vision tests. These mothers will be trained in the use of these machines. This is primarily a screening-out process, as the nurse will retest any child who fails the test given by the mothers. Because the machine for the vision test is very much in demand and Miss Means was not at all sure we would be able to obtain one for our use this year, the PTA voted that we buy our own.

Miss Idyl Nipper reported on the President's luncheon she attended, as well as the Northwestern Council meeting in Mt. Prospect. The PTA voted to join the Northwestern Council. Miss Nipper was chosen to represent our district at the PTA convention in Springfield.

Mrs. Viola Olson, Mrs. Hazel Cavett and Miss Idyl Nipper were elected to serve on the nominating committee. Election of officers will be in March.

After the meeting, refreshments (luscious cherry pie and coffee!), were served by Mrs. Frank Lude, Mrs. Hjalmar Sandquist and Mrs. Huege. The table decorations were cleverly improvised cherry trees.

School news

Last week the long-awaited class photographs came. And weren't we proud of them! The children all looked so good and the teachers photographed beautifully.

While it is a little late to talk about Valentine's Day, still the children had such a wonderful time at their school party we felt it rated a mention. Mrs. Cavett's room had organized three committees, one for refreshments, one for clean-up, and one for mail carriers. They had cookies, doughnuts, popcorn and candy. Even the adults entered into the spirit of the day, as Mrs. Lerner, the speech teacher, gave the youngsters jelly beans, Mrs. Alexander gave them Valentines and (horrors.) bubble gum, and Mrs. Kleeman had a special Valentine's luncheon with candy hearts to top it off.

Community News

We are sorry to say that we still have many children on the sick list. Ricky Haverkampf is still ill — in fact, he is now in St. Francis' hospital. Jimmy O'Boyle is home sick, as are the Deering children. Little Tommy Brookhouzen is again losing time out from school.

Last Thursday the Boys' Brigade played basketball with the team from Maywood, and won! Today, Thursday, they will play Palatine the second game of the evening, at 8 o'clock, at the Holmes school gym in Oak Park. If any of you want to see them play, this will be your last chance as it will be the last game of the season.

The Stockade was happy to welcome two new lads last Wednesday, Eric Flink and Frank Castre. The lads enjoyed themselves very much and are hoping to become regular members. Bernard Shimmin, the leader, is a very capable person and keeps the youngsters busy.

Troop No. 233, intermediate Scouts, are working hard on Kits for Korea. Several Kits are finished, and when the whole troop has completed the project the Kits will be turned in to the service chairman in DesPlaines, to be sent to Korea. These Kits contained various small items that are hard to get in Korea, and the girls are hoping the Kits will make some Korean children happy.

Our Cub Scouts had their big day last Friday at the Blue and Gold celebration in DesPlaines. Mrs. Cully, one of our Den Mothers, was there with her full den, Charles Badalamenti, Ronald Cambron, Paul Cully and Wayne Adams. All the parents were there, too. When the Den mothers received their year pins they were given a tremendous ovation for the wonderful work they had done through the year and the great part they had in the molding of character. Our boys all received some awards —the Lion badge and the Silver and Gold. Each Den decorates his own table, and our Den had the Cub Name Plates, with a centerpiece consisting of colored profile pictures of Lincoln and Washington. After refreshments were served, all enjoyed a movie showing paper mills, how they operate, and the trees that are used.

Birthday congratulations to Paul Badalamenti. All his relatives came out to help him celebrate such an important day.

Up-And-Doing 4-H Club

Members of Up and Doing 4-H club of Elk Grove met February 16 at the home of Arlene Mollenkamp.

Associate members who attended the meeting were Merrilie Moehling and Nancy Garlish.

Kathie Sibilski spoke on cookies and Theona Popp spoke on salad and beverages. Demonstrations were given by Nancy Reinlie on a salad; Sharon Garlish, oil painting, and Marcella Beigel, dessert.

Refreshments were served following the meeting. (ACM

News Of Rolling Meadows

by PAT KATKUS

Newcomers

Mr. and Mrs. J. Macior of Dove st., Joan Ellen, 5½, who attends the first grade in the Rolling Meadows public school and John Michael, 3½, are proud of their new home. They moved in December 13. Mr. Macier works for the Armored Express Corporation as a bonded messenger. Home movies and gardening are the family's favorite hobbies. Both think the village is "just wonderful—nice neighbors, very friendly."

Mr. and Mrs. W. Langhoff moved with their daughter, Linda Marie, 2, from an apartment in Arlington Heights to Palatine twp. because they wanted a home for their daughter, one where she could get the fresh air and the enjoyment of a back yard where she could play with other children her age. Mr. Langhoff is a mechanic at the Lattof Motor Sales. Mrs. Langhoff is a member of the "Hi-Pal" club which she entertained February 10 with coffee, cake and the usual entertainment. Mrs. Langhoff's parents from Iowa and her sister and family from Wisconsin came to help her when they moved in.

The first grade is going "full speed ahead" they have already finished one reader. They are also learning numbers.

Watson To Be New Postmaster In Prospect Heights

Word has been received from Washington by Paddock Publications that Senator Dirksen has certified to the postoffice department William Watson, as Prospect Heights postmaster. Official notice has not yet been received at the postoffice by Mrs. Betty Kehoe, who has been acting in that capacity the past eleven years.

She took over the postoffice six months after Prospect Heights was given a postoffice rating. She has seen to it that the postoffice service grew with the community.

Those in "on the know" realize that the change is solely due to the change in administration. This was one of only three postmasterships throughout the northwest area that are open for appointment by the Republican administration.

Mrs. Kehoe realized that fact and blames no one. She regrets of course that the "axe is falling on her head," but under the political system it is not an entire surprise. Her original appointment came at a time when Prospect Heights needed a postmaster. The fact that during the Democratic administration she did not receive a regular appointment is proof that she was not personally in politics.

Mr. Watson is a GI and was an applicant for the position under the Truman administration. The service that Mrs. Kehoe has given Prospect Heights community probably explains the fact that she continued as acting postmaster a full year after the Republicans took over in 1953.

My husband's death left me with a child and a mortgaged home. I can't make the $60 monthly mortgage payments and live on our $115 monthly Social Security. Yet, if I work and earn $75 monthly, I lose the Social Security. Could insurance have paid up the mortgage on the home?

Arlington To Meet Maine In Final Home Games Friday

MAC SAYS

BY G. A. McELROY

TWO OF THE BEST OFFICIALS in the area will handle the whistle tooting duties at the Palatine regional tournament next week. Tony Sacco of Chicago and Bob Young of Maywood have been assigned by the state office as tournament referees. The selection is based on the ratings by coaches of the eight participating schools compiled in a meeting with Al Willis, state secretary, the last week in January.

Palatine expects to be able to seat at least 2,800 at the tournament games. In addition to 1,900 on the upstairs bleacher shelf, about 900 more will be handled on temporary seating along the sides of the main floor. Knock down bleachers from the Palatine Community Park and Wauconda High School are being secured for the main court seating.

Barrington will be going after their fourth straight regional title and with it their fourth bid to go to the state tournament.

Three years ago the Bronchos were beaten by Oak Park in the sectional finals. Last year they lost to Elgin who then beat New Trier in the Arlington sectional final to go to the state. According to the Champaign News-Gazette, it is either Barrington or Elgin to join the "Sweet Sixteen" from the Arlington sectional this year.

Of course, teams like Evanston, Oak Park, Leyden, New Trier, and Waukegan cannot be counted out at this writing. We certainly would like to see Barrington go to the state. They have a better balanced team than any of the previous years and the over-all caliber of competition in the area is not up to average. It looks to us like Barrington's year.

YOUNG MEN OF PALATINE community between the ages of 17 and 21 hope to organize a strong semi-pro baseball team this coming spring season and are hoping a league may be formed among towns of this vicinity. Groups in the area planning to sponsor baseball teams next summer are urged to call Don Foster at Palatine 40 to arrange for games or formation of a league.

We are happy to see interest carrying over from high school and junior Legion ball among the out-of-school young men in Palatine. Last season they made a start in the Shoreline league which, we understand, is going to reorganize into a Southern Wisconsin-Northern Illinois circuit.

It seems to us the nucleus of a pretty good league with a minimum of travel could be organized with teams from Lake Zurich, Barrington, Palatine, Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect, Des Plaines, Park Ridge, and Bensenville playing Saturday afternoon and Sunday ball.

WHEN BILL SCHAEFFER took his wrestling championship at 145 pounds in the spacious gym Saturday night, it represented improvement for Bill. He had lost to Hunter of Evanston, who had lost to Kabarec of Waukegan.

Saturday Bill disposed of Hunter, 5-2, then Kabarec, 7-0, to leave no doubt in anyone's mind he was champ.

Both Arlington and Palatine boys looked good in most of their matches, losing to eventual champs seven times. In fact, the Cardinals eliminated their neighbors to the west three times. Three freshmen competed for Heights, including John Heintz, Del Gregory and Pat Harris. Heintz was on top of John Anderson of Waukegan, but one wrong move for the first year man resulted in his being pinned and eliminated.

CONGRATULATIONS are in order for coaches Ray Collier and John Schad of Grant high of Fox Lake. The Bulldogs clinched at least a tie Friday night for both varsity and frosh-soph Northwest championships. The varsity has a 11-2 record as compared with Antioch's 10-3, whom they meet in the season final next Friday. The frosh-sophs have a 12-1 record as compared with 11-2 for Antioch and Ela-Vernon. Even though Grant loses both games at Antioch they rate no worse than a tie.

Ray Collier brought Grant from a 5-7 conference mark in 1952-53 to the title this year with a superb job of team handling.

John Schad had a team with more frosh in the lineup than any other school in the conference, but kept them on top all season.

A quirk of the schedule sends Grant against Antioch Friday and the same teams meet at Crystal Lake next Tuesday in the regional tournament with the winner taking on powerful Elgin in the semi-finals on Thursday.

PALATINE AND WAUCONDA both faded badly in the final quarters of their Friday games after leading their opponents. Palatine fell before a 20-8 Antioch rally and Wauconda was dumped when Bensenville struck for 21 points to their 9 in the final eight minutes.

The two remain tied for third (8-5) and will play for third at Wauconda Friday in a game which a few weeks ago had the ear marks of a championship contest.

Heights To Meet Grayslake On Wednesday Eve

Next Tuesday, March 2, when the state regional tournament opens at Palatine there will be only two of the eight schools in the meet who have had successful won and lost records for the season in all games played. Barrington, rated ninth in the state at this time with a 20-1 mark, is considered to have a good chance to win both regional and sectional and go to the state tournament.

The Bronchos have been seriously in the running for this honor the past three years and the fourth time may be the charm. Their only defeat was a 47-45 setback at Waukegan during the Christmas holidays. Since that reverse Coach Harold Gaffney's quintet has taken 11 straight, including a win over East Rockford, rated fifth in the state.

BARRINGTON HAS won seven conference championships in a row, and 51 league games in a row since their 62-60 loss to Northbrook in the Northwest conference December 8, 1950. They now hold a record of 27 in a row in the North Suburban.

The only team in the Palatine regional met by Barrington this season was Arlington Heights, who was beaten 65-44 in an early season game.

Top performers for the Bronchos over the season appear to be Jerry Babb and Craig Oberst at forwards, Dick Popp at center, and Roy DeWitz and Elmer Saveley at guards. DeWitz is the Barrington play maker and leading scorer.

GLENBROOK, who has to face the Barrington power house in the opening tourney game, has won only from Grant and Grayslake, in 16 games. Undermanned and inexperienced Glenbrook has had a tough time this season, but in the late stages of the campaign has given a very good account of themselves in all games.

Coach Howie Helfrich's regulars are Boyd and Bizer at forwards, Schulteis at center, and Lay and Goettsche at guards. Bob Boyd, a sophomore, is the high scorer of the team averaging 13 points a game.

Even if the Spartans are at their best they wil have a tough time with Barrington's rangy Bronchos, whose subs are likely to be superior to most of the varsity fives in the tournament.

FIRST ROUND tilt between Ela-Vernon and Palatine at 8:30 Tuesday night may be one of the best games of the tournament. The Pirates lost to Ela, 57-47, in early December on the Palatine court, and a few weeks ago turned the tables with a 65-53 victory at Lake Zurich. Both teams have some fine veteran players capable of very fine ball at their best.

Palatine has broken even to date with a 10-10 record while Ela has won six and lost 12. Lack of a gym of any kind for practice or games handicapped Ela greatly in the first half of the season.

Probable starters for Ela are George Severance and Don Fenner at forwards, Glen Chaffin at the pivot, and Don Prouty and Jim Hilbun at guards. Chaffin is the leading scorer of the team with Prouty, Severance, and Hilbun all posting good point totals. Hilbun and Severance are the juniors on Coach Norman Ladd's team.

Coach Gene Moylan has seven boys who have carried most of the playing load in Larry Hapke, Pete Abramson, Bill Breyer, Alan Eck, John Goetz, Ken Hahn, and "Tinker" Meyer. Breyer and Eck rank high among the Northwest scorers while four of the others are quite evenly matched in the per game point averages. Eck and Goetz are juniors.

PALATINE FANS are pulling for their team to get a chance to meet the touted Barrington Bronchos, who have not been on the Pirate schedule since they joined the North Suburban loop. Next year Pirates and Bronchos renew an old rivalry with a game at Barrington during the Christmas holidays.

On the basis of season records and caliber of play in the late stages of the season a Barrington vs. Palatine and an Arlington Heights vs. Wauconda semi-final set is not unlikely. Such pairings would pack the house Thursday night. Arlington beat Wauconda, 55-53, in the Libertyville Holiday Tourney which the Cardinals won.

At the first three tournament sessions games will be played at 7:00 and 8:30 with doors open for ticket sales at 6:15. The final night the championship game starts at 8:00 with doors open at 7:00. Admission at all sessions will be 50c for students with identification cards and 80c for adults. There will be advance ticket sales in all schools for student tickets starting Thursday.

Mt. Prospect, Wheeling Join In Planning Little League Play

More than 50 fathers attended the last meeting of the Mount Prospect Little League. These fahers are asked to bring their neighbors, who have boys from 9 to 12, to the next meeting, March 1, at 8 p. m. at the village hall.

This will be the first joint meeting with the village of Wheeling, who participate in the same league.

With the major leagues already in spring training, completion of Little League plans in the near future is essential. Only one more meeting will be held before the first ball is thrown.

An announcement of selection of managers and coaches will be made and help and suggestions are necessary for the solution of the umpire problem. These boys play under adult coaches and managers and adhere to strict league rules; they therefore cannot play a game without an approved adult umpire.

Bisons Win Over Wauconda In Final Game

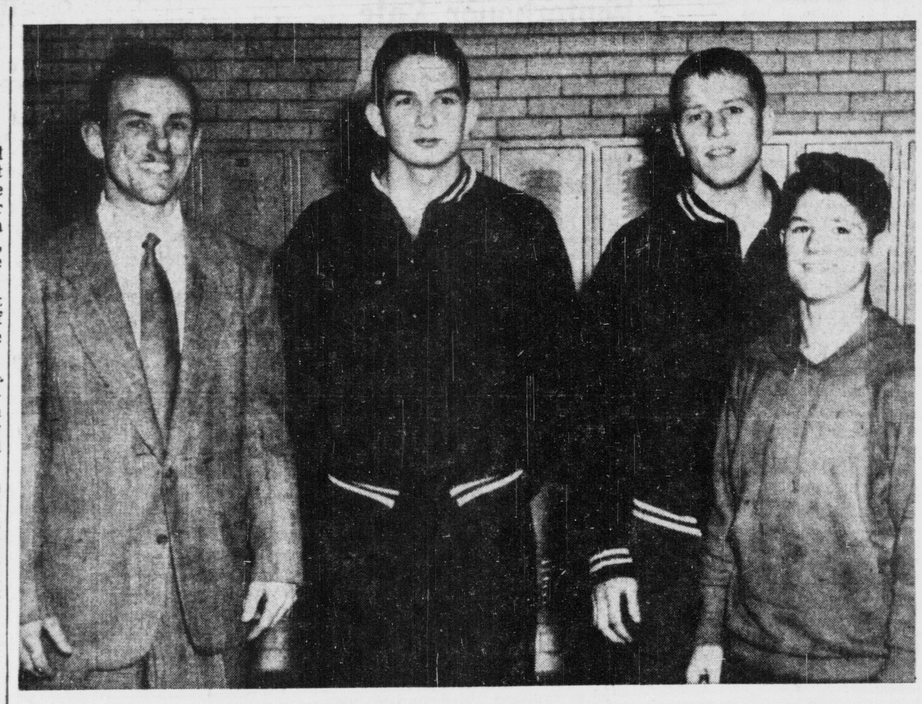

Minus Tom Nolan, Wauconda went down to defeat at Bensenville, 54-43, as the Bisons went on a 21 point scoring spree in the final period which they entered trailing 34-33. Bert Heuer, Bison center, scored 20 points, while Bill Long and Pedro Cuatrecasas scored 14 apiece. It was Heuer's fifth game with the Bisons and he has averaged 15 tallies a contest.

Gene Jascot, sophomore forward, moved into fifth place in the league scoring with 185 points as he hit 10 from the field and two from the free throw line for 22 to get more than half the Wauconda points.

Coupled with Palatine's loss, Wauconda frosh-sophs took their second in a row to move out of the cellar with a 42-33 victory.

Three Heights Wrestlers To State Finals This Week

Waukegan won as expected in the Arlington Heights sectional wrestling tournament with New Trier right behind, 55-50, but the host Cardinals 27 points, four ahead of Evanston, was the big surprise of the two day event.

And no happier man than Coach Dick Mudge could be found in the gym Saturday night as "his boys" came through with flying colors, taking a first, two seconds, and four thirds. Seven medals were awarded the locals with Palatine, coached by John Ellis, taking two thirds and a fourth.

Presenting the medals and trophy Saturday night was Milt Sprunger, assistant executive secretary of the IHSA. The crowd wasn't as large as hoped, but those who were in attendance saw a show well worth while as the referees had to decide eight matches, all draws.

WAUKEGAN and New Trier each copped five championships. Arlington took one when Bill Schaeffer breezed through the 145 pound class, 7-0, 5-2 and 7-0. He defeated Simpson of Niles, Hunter of Evanston and Kabarec of Waukegan.

Two other Heights boys making the trip to the state finals this week at Proviso are Vic Carlino and Dave Brant. Carlino pinned Wright of Niles in 2:51, then decisioned Boller of Waukegan in a referee's choice. Vic lost in the final to Martinson of New Trier in another ref's decision, after tying, 8-8.

Brant had drawn the only bye of the tournament, going directly into the semi-finals at 175 pounds. He disposed of Sproule of New Trier, then couldn't get the advantage over Salata of Waukegan and lost, 6-0, in the final.

FOUR HEIGHTS boys who lost Saturday afternoon, but came back to take third places in the consolation matches Saturday night included Charles Turk at 127, Wally Mulso at 133, Floyd Burns at 165 and Bruce Wilkerson in the heavyweight division.

Representative of the Heights squad's spirit was the wrestling of Mulso in the consolation match in spite of a broken hand suffered in the afternoon. He had pinned Fremd of Palatine, then lost to Borre of Glenbrook when his injury was suffered. He disposed of Hendricks of New Trier Saturday evening, however, for third.

Burns took Hoffman of New Trier into camp, then lost to Prie-

Cards Out To Revenge Earlier One Point Loss

by BOB PADDOCK

Arlington Heights basketball Cardinals close the home schedule Friday night against their closest West Suburban league rivals, the Maine Blue Demons. The preliminary carries plenty of interest with second place at stake, so local fans would do well to get there early to see two close games in the spacious Heights gym.

Past scores of Arlington-Maine series reveal some close contests. Heights has lost the last three meetings between the two schools by a total of seven points. Earlier this year Maine won, 59-58.

Last year in league play it was Maine both times, 48-46 and 55-51. The season before Maine won by one, then lost to the locals by [illegible].

ACTUALLY MAINE has tied in with basketball history at Heights over the years. The two schools met in a low scoring game back in 1943 at a time when Heights was still in the Northeast conference and the Blue Demons were the only West Suburban league opponents of the Cardinals.

They've played once each year since with each school taking turns winning pairs of games. Arlington's first game in the West Suburban league was a 32-31 loss November 30, 1951.

Friday night's varsity affair should be an even one. Discounting LaGrange, who've taken over first place in both divisions of the league, Maine is just three games behind York and Hinsdale. Heights is on the bottom with Riverside, just three games behind Maine. Both teams haven't been too strong at the basket with Maine ranking eighth, Heights seventh on offense.

THE CONTEST should be a tight affair with many Cardinals slated to play their final home game as seniors. Next week the regional at Palatine opens with Heights meeting Grayslake in the first game Wednesday night.

If the Cardinals can win that one they'll play Thursday night against either Wauconda or Libertyville, then probably bow out against Barrington in the final, providing they won Thursday night.

The locals haven't improved their West Suburban record over the past two years, though by winning Friday they rate a chance to cop one more game than they did last season when they finished last with a 3-11 mark. The previous year the Cards won five, lost nine in league play.

THE FROSH-SOPH tilt presents the same opportunities for each school, but with situations reversed. Arlington presently stands tied for second spot, five games behind LaGrange. Maine is at the bottom with a 3-10 record.

Coach Klotz' second year men have looked very good on occasion this year, mediocre on others. If they can fashion a good night Friday they're certain to win. Otherwise, it'll probably still be second place but with an 8-6 league mark to show for it.

LaGrange sophomores are undefeated within the loop, and should remain that way against York, having whipped the Elmhurst sophomores before by 17 scores.

IN OTHER GAMES about the league LaGrange will have to run up 102 points against York to equal last season's team record 1137 points, Downers will be out for a share of fifth place against Glenbard, and Hinsdale travels to Riverside-Brookfield.

Riverside, tied with Heights in eighth place, previously whipped second place Hinsdale by six points. With York expected to lose to LaGrange, however, Hinsdale will be gunning for victory against Riverside to assure itself a second place finish.

ser of Maine, whom he had beaten before. He then decisioned Bartholomew of Evanston. After disposing of Thompson, Palatine heavyweight, Wilkerson, lost to Miriclex of Waukegan Saturday afternoon, 4-3, but took Muchar of Niles for third.

Turk won his first match, then lost to Celesnik of Waukegan, eventual champ, but beat Koser of Niles for third.

PALATINE'S top boys were Ronald Bessmer at 112 and John Wehmer at 120. Charles Grant finished fourth for Palatine at 154.

Bessmer pinned Elko of Glenbrook, then lost to eventual champ Tom Morrison of New Trier, before winning the consolation match from Dublin of Maine. Wehmer decisioned Pete Nelson of Glenbrook, 10-1, then lost to eventual champ Art Van Tebbut of Evanston, before disposing of Clyde Thomas of Waukegan for third spot.

Gross take of the tournament was $661, not as large as hoped. It is felt THAT wrestling will have to gain more fans in the local schools before larger crowds can be expected. But the tournament ran off like clockwork, attesting to the organization of athletic director Wally Grace and his corps of assistants, including men faculty members of Arlington Heights high school.

TWO SMILES on Cardinal coach Mudge's face were caused by two freshmen, Del Gregory and Pat Harris. Gregory had a 2-8 mark at 103 pounds, but won his first match before losing to eventual champion Bob Bruce of Waukegan Harris had the misfortune of meeting Evanston's Ted Van Dellen at the start. The latter took second. Harris is also a freshman.

Ken Bredfeldt of Arlington won his first match, then lost to Van Tebbut of Evanston, eventual champ.

The Arlington suits have now been hung up for the season except for the three boys in the state meet at Proviso this week and others working out with them. Summary of the year will be released soon with picture of the squad.

Winterbauer Sets Record 52'11" In Shot Put

It's time for the sulphur and molasses again, and the Arlington Heights high school early bird trackmen have been running over to Evanston field house to get it.

Coach Russ Attis put his abbreviated track squad through their paces in a practice meet at New Trier field house Wednesday of last week with weight man Dick Winterbauer taking up where he left off in May of '53—setting records.

Dick again showed the rest of the West Suburban conference they might as well forget first place in the shot put when he tossed the heavy ball 52'11", a new record for the fieldhouse.

OTHER MARKS were moderate. The high hurdles went :06.6 with Ellis getting second. The 50 went :05.5 with Ellis finishing second, Malcolmson third.

Ellis finished third in the low hurdles, the winning time being :06. The Cardinals had no one in the 440 with Friesendorf running third in the 880 behind 2:10. The mile was all New Trier, too.

The pole vault went 10' with Michalski getting third. New Trier won the broad jump at 20'3" with Ellis getting third at 18'7". David Schimmel, a sophomore, tied for second in the high jump for the Cardinals.

JOHN LIGON has issued first call for frosh-soph track for Monday afternoon after school. Bill Beckman is handling all of the weightmen in both divisions.

A varsity workout was held at Maine Tuesday of this week with University High of Chicago relays slated for Friday, March 5. Coach Attis plans to enter the Evanston relays March 19.

Arlington Cagers Lose Pair To Hinsdale Fives

Arlington's varsity basketball team lost a four point decision at Hinsdale Friday night in spite of playing its best game of the year, 58-54. The frosh-sophs lost by two, 47-45.

The Cards started too slowly against the Red Devils, garnering just two baskets by Dave Ryden in the opening period for eight points. Wayne Mueller was out of the game due to illness.

That eight point deficit proved too big to overcome for the locals, though they tallied 15, 15 and 16 points thereafter. Hinsdale carded 17 the second period, then dropped to 12 and 13 the second half.

RYDEN CONTINUED his pace at the basket with three buckets the second quarter, plus three more the third stanza. He totaled 18 for the evening.

Otherwise, except for Turner's five baskets, the squad didn't burn the hoops though they played steady ball. High for Hinsdale was Ron Hein with 16 points.

Hain's pair of free throws, plus Pielet's seven charities and two buckets by George Oles kept the hosts ahead the final period.

THE SOPHOMORES played their usual game for Coach Maurice Klotz, except for two guards failing to go in to the basket on offense. As a result, the Hinsdale defense was effective against the others of the frosh-soph five, particularly the final quarter when Hinsdale won the game, 12-7.

The game was close all the way. Heights led at the first quarter mark, 10-9, but fell behind, 20-19 at intermission. A 19 point spurt with Malzahn and Randag leading the way, gave Arlington a three point advantage going into the home stretch.

The sophomores are again tied for second place. If York loses to LaGrange this week, the locals would be assured of second spot even if they lost to Maine Friday night in the season's final. The Heights sophs had beaten Hinsdale before by 14 points. They tripped Maine before, 49-43.

'Hawks Whip Genoa City And Lake Forest

Last Tuesday the Wheeling Blackhawks handed the Genoa City cagers a double defeat, 37-35 and 71-50. In the first game, paced by Eddie Kostka with 11 points, the Hawks had just a little too much height and scoring power for their hosts.

The Hawks, trailing through the first and second quarters, finally used their advantage in the last half to edge out Genoa 37-35. Kostka paced the Hawks with 11, with Dee Busch's 9. Vuknis was high for the losers with 15.

IN THE SECOND game, with Vic Lesch scoring 13 field goals and two charity throws and Vic Heimsoth hitting eight field goals and two free throws, the Wheeling Blackhawks defeated Genoa 71-50. It was a fast and rough tussle all the way. Genoa lost starters Joustre and Wolff via personal fouls.

Lesch led the individual scorers with 28, mostly on fast breaks, with Heimsoth's 18 as runner-up. Stryzfk was high for Genoa with 14.

The Wheeling cagers kept pouring it on until the final whistle blew only to come out on top by a score of 86-59. Chuck Fischer was high for the Hawks with 18, getting 7 field goals in the last period. Bernie Warning was runner-up with 16 markers. Rosing was high point man for the losers with 16.

Golden Gloves Slugfest Opens Monday Night

The 27th annual Tournament of Champions, sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., opens a gala three day slugfest March 1, 2 and 3 in Chicago Stadium. Opening night will find boxers from 35 cities competing in the four lighter divisions, flyweight, bantamweight, featherweight and lightweight. The four heavier classes start bombing their opponents Tuesday night.

Reports from the various cities reveal a number of contestants have had previous experience in the world's largest indoor arena. In the 112 pound class will be Dean Hite, Cedar Rapids, Jerry Morales, Kansas City and Irving Tucker, Jr., Memphis. Tucker competed in the 118 pound division last year and 112 pound class in 1952. He was a member of the 1952 Chicago Intercity team.

In the bantamweight class Virges Hutcherson of Cincinnati and Teddy Shade of Des Moines will be back for another crack at the Diamond Golden Glove which annually goes to the champion in each bracket. L. C. Morgan, Cleveland, and Jonathan Johnson, Streator, retained their championships while Feazell Vernall, Kansas City 118 pound titleholder last year, captured the 126 pound title this year.

AT LEAST four competitors in the lightweight division have participated in the Stadium rings. The repeaters are Willie Morton, Kansas City champion in 1952, and Timmie Jefferson, Streator; Thomas Elder, Cleveland, and Bob Morgan, Memphis. Elder and Morgan are defending champions while Jefferson represented Joliet in 1952 and 1953. Morton was on the 1952 Intercity team and Jefferson on last year's squad.

Tickets for Tournament of Champions and the Golden Gloves finals March 11 may be obtained by directing requests to the ticket manager, Chicago, Tribune, Chicago.

North Whips South In Catholic Bowling

St. James Catholic bowlers proved their mastery of the south side men from Our Lady of the Wayside at Arlington Heights Bowling Lanes Sunday by 250 pins, though behind 227 sticks at the end of the first game.

"The North" had won the pervious match, too, so "the South" will have to wait until next year for revenge.

Palatine In Double Win Over Libertyville

by GERRY McELROY

The Palatine Pirates won a double header Saturday night as they whipped the Libertyville Wildcats 65-56 and 61-42 on their opponents' floor. The victory was the second in non-conference competition for the Pirates and the first for the frosh-sophs.

Bill Breyer and Alan Eck each scored eight points to pace the Pirates to a 20-18 first quarter lead and were on top at half time, 35 to 34. In the third quarter Dick Meyer hit for six points while the Pirates outscored their opponents 18-12 and gained a seven points lead going into the fourth quarter. In the final period the Pirates again outscored the Wildcats 12-10 to win by nine points, 65 to 56.

Arlington Boys In Junior Ski Meet

Will Erickson, 15 year old skier, from Iron Mountain, Mich., registered the longest jump—98 feet—in the United States central junior ski jumping meet on Norge's junior hill in Fox River Grove Sunday. Erickson's leap won him honors in the 14 and 15 year old division.

Jerry Lewis, national junior champion, captured the title in the 16 and 17 year division. The meet was held on 90 tons of manufactured ice.

Beverly Gentz, 16, of Manistee, Mich., the second girl in history to compete in the tournament, made two jumps of 77 feet.

Locally speaking, Dave Brodnan had two jumps of 32 and 34 feet, Dick Brodnan 79 and 77, and Larry Schroeder 35 and 34 feet. Dave fell on his second jump. Erickson was, by far, the best jumper of the day, holding at least nine points ahead of other jumpers.

Antioch Rallies To Whip Palatine In Last Quarter

Antioch rallied for 20 points in the last quarter to move past a sluggish Palatine five and take a 54-48 victory after the Pirates appeared to have the game under control. Palatine went into the last period leading 40-34 but slowed down the play for a control game and faded rapidly as Antioch stole the ball and took advantage of Pirate playing errors to roll into the lead.

Mike Haviland, little red headed forward, made the final period a rout as he stole the ball and led fast breaks for easy baskets. Haviland got 12 of his 21 points in the final quarter.

Palatine free throwing, particularly in the last period, was the poorest of the season as they made only 14 out of 31. Antioch sank 22 out of 29 to win with one less field goal than the Pirates. Palatine led most of the game, holding a 26-23 advantage at the intermission. Coach Moylan used almost exclusively a senior team Friday night and they played a beautiful ball game until the last quarter. Breyer scored 14, Abramson 12, and Meyer 10 for Palatine. Haviland had six field goals and nine out of nine free throws for 21 points and Larry Lass had 12 points for Antioch. Larry Hapke played a standout game for Palatine though not one of the scoring leaders.

ANTIOCH LED most of the way to win the frosh-soph game 44-33 for their 11th in 13 games. They led 19-13 at the half and 31-19 at the third quarter conclusion. Walsh and Wagner scored 12 and 10 points in a well balanced scoring spread for the winners. Seven points for Bob Kolze and six each for Pete Trenchard and George Beyer was Palatine's best as nine boys got into the scoring.

Both teams had bad nights at the free throw line as Antioch made 10 out of 28 and Palatine five out of 25. It was Palatine's eighth defeat in 13 league games and dropped them below Glenbrook in fifth place. By beating Wauconda Friday, Palatine's frosh-sophs can tie Glenbrook for fourth place.

Glenbrook Wins Double Bill

Glenbrook closed their season Friday with a double win over Grayslake. The varsity ran up their record total for the season to win 72-54 while the frosh-sophs squeezed by in a thriller 51-49. Roland Bizer had 22, Bob Boyd 18, and Ken Schulteis 15 as the Spartans went on a real scoring splurge and had Grayslake on the ropes 57 to 37 going into the final period.

Jay Hook of the Grayslake Rams moved to within four points of the league scoring lead with a 20 point bid while Grenell of Grant was making but five.

Plan Richest Stakes Program At Race Tracks

Thoroughbred racing fans will see the richest stakes program in history at Arlington Park and Washington Park in 1954.

Executive Director Benjamin F. Lindheimer has revealed a schedule of 28 stakes, totaling $1,135,000 in added money, for the 65-day coordinated meeting which gets under way June 24 at Arlington Park.

The announcement comes as workmen swarm over the twin Chicago tracks, rushing to get the largest escalator system in sports ready for the 1954 season. Also under construction are a new grandstand addition at Washington Park, thousands of new seats and many acres of new parking areas at both courses.

THE $1,135,000 in stakes awards represents the highest ever announced in thoroughbred racing. The impressive Arlington-Washington roster includes four races at $100,000 each; two at $75,000; four at $50,000; one at $30,000; seven at $25,000; six at $20,000 and four at $15,000 each.

The 1954 total tops the record $1,110,000 announcede by Lindheimer last year. In 1953, however, the American Derby was increased $25,000 to $100,000 added in mid-season, and the Mademoiselle Stakes was split into two $20,000 divisions due to entry of 22 two-year-old fillies.

The 1954 stakes schedule includes five races which will go down as the world's richest of their kind.

They are the $170,000 Washington Park Handicap, set for renewal Labor Day, September 6; the $160,000 Arlington Handicap, July 31, being run on the grass for the first time since its 1929 inaugural; the $155,000 Arlington Classic for three-year-oldson July 17, and the Arlington Lassie and Princess Pat Stakes, most lucrative of all two-year-old filly events.

IN ADDITION, the July 24 Arlington Futurity and the Washington Park Futurity September 4 are expected to gross approximately $155,000 each, making them the two richest two-year-old events in summer racing.

As one of the pioneers and as the track executive who gave the greatest impetus to grass-racing in America, Mr. Lindheimer has established four major turf stakes for 1954. They total $200,000 in added money and will be bolstered by one of the richest series of overnight grass races ever carded in this country.

The grass-stake program will be headlined by the Arlington Handicap, which will be the richest ever run on the truf.

The historic $100,000 American Derby will be renewed Aug. 21 at Washington Park as a climax to an apparent colorful three-year-old racing campaign.

Ten stakes totaling $355,000 in added money will be offered for two-year-olds at Arlington-Washington in 1954. Four are for juvenile fillies.

Card Frosh Lose, JVs Win

"Plenty shots, no hit"—those four words in every sport story could cut any newspaper to four pages, but they adequately express what happened in the Arlington Heights-Hinsdale freshman basketball game Saturday morning at Arlington.

Coach Carl Nelson's boys lost, 48-45, in spite of a 17-7 last quarter revival. The rest of the game it was simply a case of Heights getting plenty of shots, but the in-and-outers far outweighed the baskets.

AND IT WASN'T for lack of trying, either. Three Card yearlings had four fouls apiece in the second quarter and played carefully thereafter, with Alan Ragland and Paul Brown both getting the thumb later on. John Willie had four, also. High scoring Bill Palmer was able to hit just once all morning, in the fourth quarter.

The loss gave the Heights frosh a 6-7 mark with the final game coming up this Saturday morning at Maine. One nice thing about the frosh, they're loyal to the other Heights teams. Eighteen of them were either at the Hinsdale game or the wrestling tournament the night before until 11-12 o'clock.

THE JV SQUAD gained retribution for the freshman loss by defeating Hinsdale, 49-30, with Coach Howard Lester using varsity reserves. Heights led at the quarters, 15-7, 28-11 and 36-14, with 12 boys seeing action.

High scorer for the Cardinals was Mike Shanklin with 20 points. Tops for the losers was Heck with eight.

Here Are The Illinois State Basketball Tourney Records

Only undefeated teams ever to survive the tournament trail to a state championship were Taylorville, which captured 45 straight in 1944, Mt. Vernon, which won 33 in a row in 1950, and LaGrange, which had 29 straight in 1953.

Three other teams went into the championship final undefeated, only to meet first losses. In 1922 Atwood's perfect record was nipped by Centralia, 24-16, in the final. Decatur did it to Danville, 26-22, in 1936, while in 1942 Paris, previously unbeaten, fell before Centralia 35-33.

Looking over facts and figures of other state tournament record, here's what one finds (excluding figures for the 1954 season):

Three-time winners of state titles— Rockford High School (1911 1919, 1939); Centralia (1918, 1922, 1942); Decatur (1931, 1936, 1945); Mt. Vernon (1920, 1949, 1950); Freeport (1915, 1926, 1951).

Only schools to win two straight—Elgin (1924, 1925); Mt. Vernon (1949, 1950).

Hebron in 1952 was the first district team ever to win the state title since smaller schools were placed in districts in 1938. Braidwood was runnerup to Dundee in 1938.

Highest score (total) in title game—146 points (Mt. Vernon 85, Danville 61) in 1950.

Highest single game score for winning team—88 points (Freeport 88, Decatur 60) in 1951.

Highest championship game score for winning team—85 points (Mt. Vernon 85, Danville 61) in 1950.

Coaches of three state champions—Arthur L. Trout, Centralia (1918, 1922, 1942); Gay Kintner, Decatur (1931, 1936, 1945).

Coaches of two state champions—Mark Peterman (Canton, 1928, Springfield, 1935); Norman A. Ziebell (Morton of Cicero, 1932, 1941); Ernest W. Eveland (Paris, 1943, 1947); Stanley Changnon (Mt. Vernon, 1949, 1950).

Most years coached team in state tournament—11, by Mark Peterman (Canton, 1923, 1924, 1925, 1926, 1928; Springfield—1932, 1933, 1934, 1935, 1945, 1947).

Individual scoring record for all tournament games—121 points (31-38-27-25), by Ted Caiazza, LaGrange, 1953.

Most field goals in one game, individual—16 by Robert Doster, Decatur, 1945; Max Hooper, Mt. Vernon, 1950.

Most tournaments in which team has played—20, by Champaign (1918, 1919, 1920, 1921, 1925, 1927, 1929, 1934, 1935, 1938, 1939, 1940, 1943, 1944, 1945, 1946, 1947, 1948, 1949, 1952).

Most consecutive times played in state final game—3, by Thornton of Harvey (1933, 1934, 1935); Champaign (1945, 1946, 1947).

Most times coached team in state final game—4, by Ernest Eveland, Paris (1939, 1942, 1943, 1947); Mark Peterman, Canton (1926, 1928) and Springfield (1933, 1935); Gay Kintner, Decatur (1931, 1936, 1937, 1945); Arthur L. Trout, Centralia (1918, 1922, 1942, 1946).

Most consecutive times coached team in state final game—3, by Jack Lipe, Thornton of Harvey (1933, 1934, 1935); Harry Combes, Champaign (1945, 1946, 1947).

Modern individual point record for single game—38, 15 field goals and 8 free throws by Ted Caiazza, LaGrange vs. St. Teresa of Decatur, 1953.

Highest total score in state tournament game, two teams—153 points (LaGrange 85, DuSable of Chicago 68) in 1953.

Highest total score in state tournament, team, four games—310 points (85-75-78-72) by LaGrange, 1953.

Records for state tournament attendance, sure to stand because of reduction in Huff Gymnasium capacity in 1948, were established in 1947. Marks are 7,903 for single session, 23,344 for first-day sessions, 15,806 for Friday and Saturday double sessions. Addition of Wednesday games, however, has established a new record for a four-day eight-session total. Figuring capacity, 6,905 for each of the 1953 sessions, this year' total will be 55, 240.

Grant Wins NW Title

Grant clinched their first Northwest conference championship in basketball Friday night when they trimmed Ela-Vernon with a third period rally 56-48 at Fox Lake. The Bulldogs can lose the final at Antioch next Friday and still tie for the title or win and take it undisputed. The Grant frosh-sophs are in exactly the same position as the varsity as a result of beating Ela 44-42 with whom they were tied for the top spot.

Balanced scoring in which their league leading point getter, Bill Grenell, did not participate spelled victory for Grant.

Bob Bein had 14, Al Guetzloff 13, Kent Raffel 11, and Leroy Bettis 10 while Grenell missed 16 shots in the first half and wound up with only five points. George Severance scored 21 for Ela and Glen Chaffin 17, but Ela's high scoring guards were held to a total of eight points. Ela was on top 24-21 at the half, but Grant forged ahead 40-36 in the third period.

Illini Trackmen Out To Tie Wolverine Mark Of 15 Big Ten Titles

Illinois' small but brilliant band of track performers will seek to tie Michigan's all-time record of 15 Big Ten indoor track championships in the 44th annual meet in Illinois Armory March 5 and 6.

The Wolverines, who last won the meet in 1945, have captured 15 crowns since competition was originated in 1911. Illinois, with three straight titles, now has accumulated 14.

Other teams conceded chances to cop the team championship are Michigan State, Indiana, and Iowa. Preliminaries of the 1954 meet will begin at 7 p.m. March 5, with finals slated at 1 p.m. March 6.

International K. C. —

The big question in the minds of most of the dog show folks these days is, "will there be an International?". The reason for the question of course has to do with the state rabies quarantine and also the Chicago and Cook county "stepped up" control under the rabies law.

The latest word is that according to a release to the press from the International club dated February 19, the show will be held. Official clearance for the show was given on that date by Stillman J. Stanard, director of the Illinois department of agriculture, Springfield, who has the power under the state law of determining areas and periods of time in which rabies quarantines are in effect.

The International is one of the three largest dog shows in the country, and the largest in the midwest. It will be held this year on April 3 and 4 in the International Amphitheatre, 42nd & Halsted, Chicago. The 1953 entry of 2196 dogs exhibited by owners in 36 states and Canada set a new high record for the Chicago show.

Premium lists to prospective exhibitors are now in the mail showing the final entry closing date as March 22. Cash prizes total over $5,000.00 and there are something like 87½ various trophies to go to the winners.

The basic reason that the show was given clearance to proceed, even with the rabies quarantine, was based on the fact that all dogs entered in such an event are confined either to their benches or are under the control of their owner while being shown.

Winter baths —

If your dog is of a long-haired breed, avoid washing him until warmer days arrive.

The dangers of cold weather bathing stem from the difficulty of getting the animal thoroughly dry. Gaines Research has found that collies, for example will often have a damp undercoat two days after a bath. This means that the cold menace is ever present during the entire time. For this reason some collie breeders never wash their dogs except during the warm summer months when old Sol puts in his best licks. Regular brushing and grooming keeps Bosco socially acceptable during other times.

Occasionally the face, feet and legs can be washed and dried easily with a heavy towel or a good chamois cloth. This will take care of any real muddy conditions, however, the rest of the dog's body should get nothing more than a good stiff brushing.

Barks & Bays —

One thing that seems quite noticed these days is that the rabies quarantine has brought about a little better control of dogs by their owners. There does not seem to be the excess of dog population at large. Of course it is your editor's humble opinion that he could never understand why a person would buy a good dog and then turn him out to roam like a tramp. Such actions only bring trouble to both dog and owner.

Illini Sprinter Hopes For Revenge In Big Ten Indoor Meet March 5-6

Willie Williams, Illinois' great dashman and low hurdler, is looking forward to the Big Ten Indoor championships March 5 and 6 at Champaign to avenge his only defeat at 60 yards in two years of competition.

Williams was edged in a triangular meet at East Lansing Monday by Travis Buggs of the Spartans in the slow time of :06.4. Willie blamed a slow start, after which "I just couldn't catch him in 60 yards."

The two will clash again in the Big Ten meet.

Bears Sign New Quarterback—Ed Brown

The Bears added another new outstanding quarterback Saturday with receipt of the signed contract of rangy Ed Brown, former University of San Francisco star who will be released from the Marine Corps in April.

Halas had to literally make a recent flying trip west to beat out bidders from the Canadian League. He took a 1 p. m. plane out of Chicago, arrived in Los Angeles at 6, conferred with Brown and got the latter's verbal agreement between 7 and 8, just two hours before emissaries from Canada arrived. The signed contract arrived later.

Joe Kuharich, former Cardinal coach and now on the Washington Redskins' staff, had Brown for three seasons at San Francisco. He commented:

"Ed is the best long passer in the game and certainly the best running 'T' quarterback. In 1951, he was a big factor in leading us to a top-ranking — nine games without a defeat."

Lutherans Confess

"I believe that Jesus Christ, true God, begotten of the Father from eternity, and also true man, born of the Virgin Mary, is my Lord,

Who has redeemed me, a lost and condemned creature, purchased and won me from all sins, from death, and from the power of the devil; not with gold or silver, but with His holy, precious blood and with His innocent suffering and death, that I may be His own, and live under Him in His kingdom, and serve Him in everlasting righteousness, innocence, and blessedness, even as He is risen from the dead, lives and reigns to all eternity.

This is most certainly true."

There's ACCURACY Combined with LONG LIFE in a McCORMICK-DEERING GRAIN DRILL

The word "accuracy" applied to a McCormick-Deering Grain Drill means just this: exact metering of your seed to furnish a uniform supply in the quantity you want. And that feature stands out in both fluted and double-run feeds.

There's a wide variety of furrow openers, too—the right type for your soil conditions so that seed will always be placed at a uniform depth.

Talk about rugged construction and durability! All-steel hoppers and bridge-type main frames with reinforced corners take care of that . . . and hold feeding mechanisms in perfect alignment.

But don't just take our word for it. Come in and find out about the McCormick-Deering model with the seeding and fertilizing equipment you want.

4-H Leader Hails 'Character Building' Here

In a speech which marked his 31st year as state leader of Illinois 4-H agricultural clubs, E. I. Pilchard called for an emphasis on the "good character and citizenship building aspects of 4-H."

Pilchard spoke at the X-tra Yield luncheon February 1, held in conjunction with the University of Illinois farm and home week, where district corn project winners were honored.

Some 200 4-H members, leaders parents and Illinois Farm Supply company personnel heard Pilchard say: "4-H work is a great privilege, but with it also come obligations and responsibilities. Let's not let any of our various contests and the desire to win overshadow the sound principles for which 4-H was founded."

REFERRING to the steer which was recently disqualified at the international livestock exposition in Chicago, Pilchard said, "It's poor business for any father or 4-H leader to endorse records which aren't factually straight.

"Naturally," he continued, "where there are definite competitive goals there is always temptation. But let's remember we're trying to build character and teach citizenship to our rural yough.

"Unless 4-H members get good character and good citizenship from their project participation, then they had better not start," cautioned the state leader.

CONCLUDING his speech on "What the five-acre corn project can do for you," Pilchard said that members should learn the scientific principles of determining any project needs and then fill them in the most efficient and economical manner.

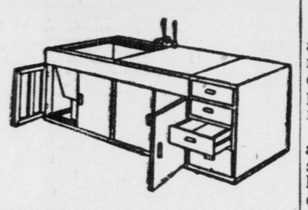

Corn yield winners were selected on the basis of yield, cost of production and corn quality.

Handy Jim's FIXIN-UP TIPS For Farm and Home

Enclose Laundry Tubs

STORAGE is a "must" in the laundry, but oftentimes it is makeshift and unsatisfactory. Wise homemakers can readily make a combination linen chest and laundry supply cabinet which will serve also to hide unsightly stationary tubs.

As shown in the illustration, the handyman can enclose the tubs, construct a chest of drawers next to them, and create a handy clothes sorting table on top. To do the best job from the standpoints of cost, appearance and long life, he should build a framework of 2 by 2-inch lumber and cover it with smooth Masonite Tempered Presdwood, one-quarter inch thick.

Drawer construction can be simple. Just form the framework of lumber and attach a bottom of Presdwood. Wooden slides attached to the cabinet and sides of the drawers complete that part of the project.

The lumber framework for the enclosures should be no farther than 16" apart. Swinging doors to enclose the tubs may be made, too, as illustrated, or sliding doors of Tempered Presdwood unframed, may be made. They will slide in grooves cut into the cabinet floor and upper framework.

Prime and paint the installation for the best appearance.

Urge Boars Or Gilts Only From Tested Stock

It wouldn't take long to lick the lard problem if American farmers would use the Prince Edward Island system of swine testing.

In that tiny province in eastern Canada, no hog grower sells breeding boars or gilts that aren't from parent stock that has been tested and proved.

Testing must be done by the government station at Charlotte town. Two barrows and two gilts from a sow's first litter are sent to the station. They go on feed at 50 pounds and continue until they weight 200.

THEN THEY ARE butchered and the carcasses are scored for meat quality. The aim is to weed out all breeding stock that will not produc pigs high in lean and low in fat.

A Capper's Farmer field editor asked H. W. Clay, in charge of swine work on the island, to show him some of the record cards kept on tested litters. He pulled out one for a litter that tested perfect for backfat thickness, bacon quality, size of loin eye and type.

It got a top score of 70 on those four points. But on length it got only 17 points of a possible 20. On balance it got 7 points instead of a perfect 10.

"THE CARCASS length is only 30½ inches," Clay said. "We want 32½ inches at 200 pounds for best meat quality. Length and leanness go together. And we're cheated out of 2 inches of loin and 2 inches of bacon by 30½ inch pigs.

"The mark-off for the balance came because the pigs had shoulders a bit too large. We like the shoulder trim and rather small. That makes a better carcass."

There are 300 hog breeders on Prince Edward Island, the field editor adds, and only one breed of hogs—Yorkshires. These Yorks look extremely long and slim compared to our hogs, but they have long hams, with a thin fat covering.

"Years of testing have given the breed a thick, lean loin," says the writer. "Bacon sides are long and well-streaked with lean. Testing files show it takes 323 to 364 pounds of feed for each 100 pounds of gain from 50 pounds to 200."

Good Policy To Use Feed Lambs With A Creep Ration

Fix a creep for your new lambs so hat they can get some feed away from the ewes.

Harry Russell, extension livestock specialist at the University of Illinois college of agriculture, suggests that you put the creep in the sunniest part of the barn. That will keep the lambs out where they will be warm.

Here's a creep ration that your lambs will like: Twenty parts of cracked corn, 20 parts of whole oats, 10 parts of bran and 10 parts of soybean oil meal. In addition, give the lambs as much of the best hay you have as they will eat.

Russell adds that University of Illinois tests have showed that adding one gram of antibiotic to each 200 pounds of creep ration has resulted in faster gains and fatter lambs.

Breeding Service Inseminates 1100 Cows

Scientific Breeding Service announced that their organization has inseminated a total of 1123 cows in 1953 as compared to 981 in 1952.

Scientific Breeding Service buys semen from the Wisconsin Scientific Breeding Institute at Madison, an American Breeders Service organization, which has boosted the record of cows bred from 129,835 in '52 to 139,219 in '53.

With the three-quarter million mark (749,082) first service cows bred artificially in 1953 by the American Breeders Service's six studs the desire for the best proved sires is becoming apparent by the nation's dairymen who milk cows for a living.

Farm Shops May Be Big Or Small; It Depends on How They Are to Be Used

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

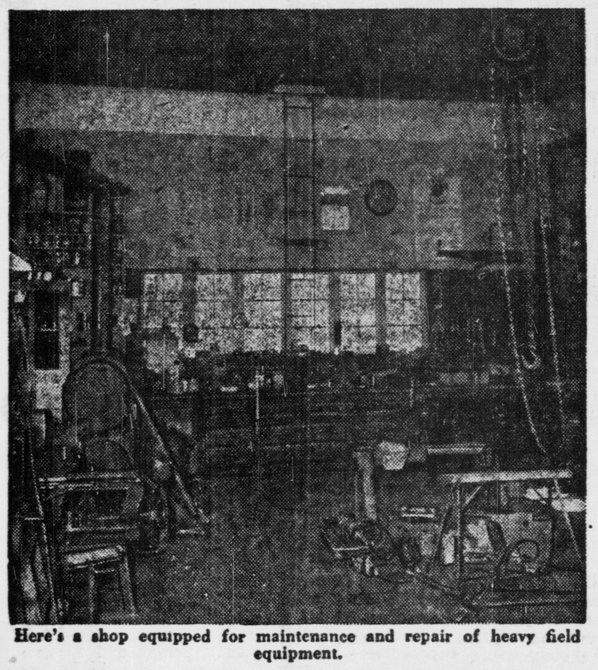

If you're thinking of a farm shop, agricultural engineers have some sound advice to offer. Much of your planning depends on the mechanical skills you have now—or want to develop. It depends, too, on your equipment requirements; the need for keeping it in top operating condition, and the sort of shop which is best for all-round convenience and efficiency.

Careful planning, however, will help you to avoid mistakes and save money. If you have a minimum amount of equipment and do not use a shop much for repairs or making the things that hobby-conscious farmers enjoy turning out, the building need not be too large. And tools may be limited to hammers, saws, etc., with, perhaps, a grinder, drill and soldering iron for certain special jobs.

However, if you do have some heavy machinery on the farm you'll be wise to consider constructing a new shop or making necessary changes in one of your existing buildings to meet your needs. You'll find that a building large enough to house broken machinery will pay off in terms of better, faster and easier work during bad weather or at night.

Electrical equipment most frequently used and most helpful in emergencies or just for maintenance operations includes a transformer-type arc welder, air compressor, circular and band saws, and a lathe for wood or metal. Welders, particularly, have helped farmers meet some notable emergencies—times when a corn picker, hay baler or wagon reach broke during a critical harvesting period.

Any repair or maintenance job takes the right kind and number of tools—plus time and energy. But all must be concentrated in a shop geared to your requirements, with plenty of room, satisfactory light for each job, enough electrical convenience outlets for your electrical equipment, and with the building adequately wired so that your motors and lights will operate efficiently.

Here's a shop equipped for maintenance and repair of heavy field equipment.

Loose Housing For Dairy Helps Cut Labor Costs

You can cut out much of the time, travel and heavy labor in your dairy business with a loose housing system in operation.

Deane G. Carter, professor of farm structures at the University of Illinois college of agriculture, says that if you are considering new dairy buildings or remodeling of an old barn you might well consider the advantages of the loose housing layout.

It's usually faster and easier to milk a herd in milking room stalls, Carter says. Cows can be trained to come to the operator. It's easier to keep the milking area clean and sanitary, and walking, stooping and bending are cut to a minimum.

MANURE PACKS in the bedded area and most of its fertility value can be saved because it is under cover. You can use a tractor-mounted power lift to scoop the manure right into the spreader in the opern barn.

Farmers have showed that loose housing is better for the cows and calves. You can expect better herd health with loose housing, fewer injuries to the animals, possibly longer productive life for cows, less danger of loss of animals in case of fire and early detection of cows in heat.

New loose housing can use the simplest and lowest cost types of barn construction to save costs. Or, if you want to use old stanchion barns alrady on the farm, it is not too hard to convert them. For more information ask your county farm adviser for a copy of cicrular 594 "Loose Housing for the Farm Dairy."

363,369 Future Farmers

The Future Farmers of America has 363,369 active members in about 8,500 local chapters located in farming areas throughout the 48 States, Hawaii and Puerto Rico. Illinois membership reached 17,421 last year in 502 local chapters. This membership total was exceeded only by Texas and North Carolina.

Guernsey Cow Helps Food Supply

A registered Guernsey cow, Riverdale's May Wee Bonnie, owned by Robert Anderson, Palatine, put 12,772 pounds of milk and 627 pounds of butterfat into the country's breadbasket. This is according to the official herd improvement registry record released by the American Guernsey cattle club. "Bonnie" a six year old was milked 730 times while on test.

Guernsey cows on official test have steadily increased production over the years. The average cow in the United States produces only about one-half as much as the average purebred Guernsey on official test.

The sire of "Bonnie" is Fairmount Master's Duke. Thirteen daughters of this bull are listed in the performance register of the American Guernsey cattle club.

This record was supervised by University of Illinois.

Make List Of Crop Destroying Insects For 1954

Six of the top-producing agricultural counties in Illinois may be hit by severe outbreaks of crop-destroying insects in 1954.

This prediction is by H. B. Petty, University of Illinois entomologist, in an article appearing in the February issue of the IAA Record, the Farm Bureau magazine.

Based on fall "census" figures of over-wintering insects, Petty says the counties of Will, Kankakee, Iroquois, Livingston, McLean and Ford may be hit the hardest.

SEVERE COLD weather and heavy rainfall during what's left of winter could alter the insect outlook, the entomologist says.

The six counties most likely to be hit may suffer heavy infestations of chinch bugs, spittlebugs and corn borers. "It'll pay to spray," Petty adds.

"Illinois farmers got back between $4 and $5 for each $1 they invested in insecticides during the 1953 crop year. And 1954 looks like it'll be another record year for bugs," he said.

UREA Can Be Cheap Source Of Protein

Urea can help to cut the costs of making a protein supplement.

G. R. Carlisle, extension livestock specialist at the university of Illinois college of agriculture, says that a pound of urea used in a protein dupplement will reduce the cost by about 10 cents. That's figured at present prices of corn, urea and soybean meal.

The reason is that six pounds of cor.. plus one pound of urea equals about 7 pounds of soybean meal. The corn-urea combination is cheaper to buy than soybean meal and contains as much potential protein.

UREA IS NOT protein, Carlisle points out, but it contains about 42 percent of nitrogen. A pound of protein contains 16 percent of nitroge That means there is enough nitrogen in a pound of urea to make 2.6 pounds of protein. Bacteria in a steer's paunch convert the urea into usuable protein.

Tests at midwest experiment stations indicate that supplements containing urea are not any more efficient than supplements of the same protein content that do not contain urea. This is true of both fattening and roughage rations.

TO BE ABSOLUTELY safe, you must mix urea thoroughly and carefully into the protein supplement. Present recommendations set a limit of 5 percent of urea as the most you should mix into a supplement. At this level the 5 percent of urea will be the equivalent of 13 percent of protein.

DuPage County Hogs Bring Top Price

DuPage county hogs were high sellers at the Chicago Stock Yards on Wednesday's market.

Clarence Diehl, of Naperville, had one of the outstanding sales for the day when his shipment of 39 head of red hogs that averaged 318 pounds each sold for $25.50 per cwt. This was 50c above the general trade of stock selling in this weight classification.

An extreme top of $27.00 per cwt. was paid on a small lot of hogs during this market. Top price paid on load shipments was $26.85 per cwt. for selected meat-type stock.

Q. What are the required tips a train traveler must be prepared to give?

A. The tip to the porter who carries your bags and conducts you to the train. On the train there is the Pullman porter. In the dining car, there is the tip to the waiter and if you order any kind of drink, tip the boy who brings it. Upon arrival at destination, tip the station porter who carries your luggage to your taxi or car.

Q. Is it all right to eat asparagus with the fingers?

A. Yes, provided the stalk of asparagus is firm and not dripping with butter or sauce. When in doubt, use the fork.

Q. Which is the more formal salutation to a letter — "My dear Mrs. Jones" or "Dear Mrs. Jones"?

A. "My dear Mrs. Jones is the more formal.

Q. Is it proper for a girl to light a man's cigarette for him?

A. Yes, if she has just lighted her own and her match is still burning. Otherwise, he should always light his own.

Q. What is the correct size of the place card at a dinner?

Q. What should one write on the card enclosed with flowers sent to a funeral?

A. "With sympathy," or, "With deepest sympathy" is sufficient.

Q. Does the receiving of a wedding announcement require a gift?

A. No.

Buy Now To Avoid Spring Rush On Nursery Trees

Now is the time to order the trees and shrubs you will want to decorate the home grounds when warm weather returns.

Good trees are one home commodity where shortages still exist, advises Billy White of the Davey Tree Expert Co. Therefore, tree buying plans should be completed as soon as possible to avoid the Spring rush.

Several factors figure in the tree scarcity. One is the huge post-war building boom which few nurserymen anticipated. The building boom, in turn, created a demand among new home owners for trees, trees and still more trees. It requires from five to ten years or more for nurserymen to grow "liners" into stock of saleable size. At present there are not enough good nursery trees to fill anticipated needs.

Plant ailments also contributed to the shortage, such as the Dutch elm disease which in many sections has prevented the use of available nursery elms. Still another factor was the increased interest of the buying public in things horticultural.

Supplies of quickly-grown items, such as small junipers, arborvitaes, silver maple and most deciduous shrubs, are now fairly adequate. But many many others are still scarce, especially larger sizes of the better varieties.

Sidewalk Story

We have noted with interest and pleasure your front page coverage to date of the "sidewalk story" in Mt. Prospect. Although we who have raised objection to what we consider the unnecessary installation of walks in the entire village, and have been criticized as quibbling about a trivial thing, your coverage of this matter indicates your appreciation of the fact that a considerable amount of money is at stake here. Fifty cents per square foot is a modest estimate for the sidewalk.

In many cases the walk itself would constitute less than half of the cost. Regrading of lawns and recently installed driveways would in many cases, raise the cost of complying with the Village edict to $500 or $600. In one single block this might run into several thousand dollars. Cost is, in most cases, the prime basis for the objection many of us have raised. Another basis for objection, however, and an important one, is the cutting up of sweeping lawns, which is one feature that sets this village apart from Chicago, from whence many of us fled.

The property owner's group consider this a democratic, equitable, and flexible manner in which to meet this problem.

Pros And Cons In 16,310 Homes

Two pages of pros and cons regarding the Arlington Heights high school bond issue election Saturday, February 27, will be found this week on pages two and three of this section.

Big Hearted

February 14 was Valentine's Day, but in addition to that it was Heart Sunday. On that day, the Arlington Heights Heart Fund Drive conducted its one-day, house-to-house canvass.

As reported elsewhere in this paper, the total collections were over $2,500, a sum which was substantially in excess of the Arlington Heights quota. As a matter of fact, only one community in northern Cook County has exceeded its goal, percentage-wise, more than Arlington Heights has.

The success of this drive was the result of the efforts and cooperation of many people, for example—

The 18 region captains, who enlisted the aid of their neighbors as volunteer collectors;

The 161 volunteer collectors who knocked on literally hundreds of doors and obtained some 1,800 donations;

Mayor Albert Goedke, who proclaimed February 14 as "Heart Sunday;"

Mrs. Donald Knapp, who ran the Heart Fund film trailer at the Arlington Theatre;

Mr. Clifford Schapanski, who provided his Arlington Radio & Record Shop sound truck to announce the coming Heart Sunday canvass;

Mr. Marvin Rodewald, who inserted and distributed 3,500 Heart Sunday leaflets in the February 14 Sunday newspapers;

The people of Arlington Heights, who contributed so generously.

To these people—and to Paddock Publications for their excellent news coverage of our drive—I want to extend my sincere thanks, and also those of the Chicago Heart Association.

Well-Mannered Dogs

The writer has had a dog of one kind or another for the past fifty years, and now owns a valuable one. Two years ago, he had rabies shots, and for three days the reaction was not pleasant to behold. He is kept in the house or fenced back yard.

My outlook on dogs is that there are no bad or ill-mannered dogs unless they are owned by bad or ill-mannered people, as a dog reflects its master. Keep the dog from running loose and the trouble is ended.

The rabies shot order is just another way of making money for "shot happy veterinarians."

Police Help

I want you to know how grateful I am to the Palatine policeman, known only to my wife as "Frank", who found our three year old daughter after she had wandered away from home late this afternoon. Although others were searching, and had been doing so for some time, it was he who found her soon after her disappearance was reported to him.

Thanks Police

I want to express my sincere thanks for the cooperation of the Palatine police in reaching my brother during the death of a sister. The family couldn't get in touch with him by telegram, and he doesn't have a phone, but with the quick action of the police he got a chance to be at the chapel before she was laid to rest.

In the Shadow of + + + The Steeple

by William O. McGill

Less than two years ago, Hyde Park was a dangerous place in which to live. Each daily newspaper carried further stories of the degree to which crime and terror filled the lives of residents of the area. Today, the crime rate in the Hyde Park-Kenwood, Woodlawn area is dropping faster than in any other part of the city. The crimes against persons, as over against crimes against property, are at an all-time low.

One asks immediately, "What happened? How was it done?"

Julian Levy, the executive director of the Southeast Chicago Commision, says that it happened because of public interest and willingness to work at deplorable situations. The Hyde Park-Kenwood Council of Churches and Synagogues is one of the oldest organizations of its kind in the nation. When Hyde Park was a rich community the Council was greatly concerned about slums and the preservation of community life in slum areas. Yet through the years, the Council and others were blind to the deterioration which was taking place in their own area.

THEY AGREED that urban problems are moral problems. There are moral breakdowns involved when it is possible to rent a room, complete with gas ring, paperboard partitions, shared bath—in a windowless basement—for eighteen dollars a week! At this rate, slum development is not an economic problem.

Levy says that we forget in the city what every farmer knows: the principal of renewal. In Hyde Park, for example, many buildings date from the 1893 World's Fair; many of them were cut up into illegal units even as far back as the end of that Fair. Furthermore, the street patterns and housing patterns all developed at a time when the basic problem was stabling a horse, not parking an automobile. This helps to explain the problem of Chicago's dirty streets; a crane which picks up automobiles while a sweeper operates underneath would clarify this situation.

STREETS, SUBDIVISIONS, shopping centers, schools, all require renewal—just like the "back forty." We understand that suburban merchants and village trustees are becoming aware of the same principle.

Urban bigness has created additional problems. As the centers of government became dissociated from local citizens, it became possible for law enforcement to be undermined. The building department was made susceptible to undercover income; an antiquated system of police administration exalted the district captains to little commissioners. The most important man on the force became "the captain's man." Overcrowding in residential areas made for overcrowded schools. City living became increasingly undesirable. When the situation was compounded with greed and prejudice it became drastic.

Hyde Park said that something had to be done, that it was up to American citizens to build good communities. Next week, I want to say something about what they did.

Fire Losses Up

Estimated fire losses in the United States during January amounted to $86,493,000, it was reported by the national board of fire underwriters.

According to Lewis A. Vincent, NBFU's general manager, this represents an increase of 12.8 per cent over losses of $76,659,000 reported for January, 1953.

QUITE CONTRARY

BY MARY

Someone had better rush out and speak sharply to things as the tulips, croci (crocusses?), wild flowers and such. They appear to be laboring under a misapprehension that spring has sprung. We would like to think so but have a suspicious nature. We think that the wild things deserve some sort of warning before their little noses get nipped

One has to be truly an animal lover to keep a dog in the city these days. What with vaccinations, quarantines, and large fines, keeping a dog is now a full time job. And, we want it clearly understood that with rabies rampant we are in hearty agreement with all the rules and regulations.

It would be much easier if someone could explain to the dogs about the situation.

In the meantime, anyone who keeps a dog and doesn't live on an estate of at least sixty acres is mad. Down, Rover.

The high school election campaign has degenerated into a name calling contest. Whyohwhy, when there is an issue at stake must John Q. Public immediately deviate from the main thought and have himself a picnic making with the gossip?

We have heard as many funny reasons for voting for the new school as we have for voting against it.

It seems to our simple mind to be merely whether one feels that we need another high school badly enough to warrant the tax increase it will mean. We think the area needs the school or rather will need the school in the very, very near future. Saturday will tell how the rest of the world of the township feels.

We are in revolt. We just don't think we can stand one more returning vacationer telling us of the joys of some warm paradise. They, the returning brownskins, should take into consideration the poor taut nerves of us who must brave out the wintry blasts.

What a crummy trick to bring back pictures of themselves lolling around on some beach soaking up sunshine. We try to still the small cold voice that tells us that we are eaten up with envy. We agree with the voice, envy has riddled us.

We too want to shed our pale purplish skin hue and burst forth with a healthy tan.

We would even settle for a painful sunburn at this point. Anyone got a sunlamp and some bird gravel handy? We may be able to kid ourselves for the nonce.

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER

BY LELAND ELLIS TRUXELL

It has often been said that after a man and woman have been married for many years, they begin to look like each other. The loves of most individuals have been changed by marriage. How a man's wife or a woman's husband treats him or her is often reflected by their facial expressions.

When a gentle, peace loving man marries a domineering woman, something has to happen. What happens depends on the stuff the man is made of. If he has been hibernating through the years of his bachelorhood, he may wake up to the fact that he can fight back, his gentle face take on a more stubborn look, his eyes a quiet determination. Again, he might just fade out of the picture like the famous Mr. Milquetoast who is afraid to call his soul his own.

SOMEWHAT the same thing happens with a woman. If she marries a man who is selfish, domineering, thoughtless, while she loves peace and gentleness, she may develop a pathetic, sad, I'm so abused look, that one so often sees on women's faces. Or, she may become a regular hellcat.

Most often, when you find a husband and wife who are quiet, who go around with a happy contented expression on their faces, who can act as though they enjoy being along together, you have found a pair who are truly mated. Their consideration and understanding of each other has so moulded their lives into a oneness that they do, indeed, look and act much alike.

NOT ALL MARRIED folks thrive on peace and contentment. Occasionally you meet a couple who live for what excitement and danger they can find in life. Countless combinations are found in which married folks have learned to enjoy life and find contentment in love for each other. You can always tell them when you see them.

It is a rule of marriage that unless there is mutual agreement to live and let live, a seeking to understand and sympathize with one another, basic likes and interests upon which to agree, and a common goal or goals, marriage becomes a hectic and difficult thing. The way you treat your partner is more often than otherwise reflected in his or her attitude and facial expression.

JUST AROUND THE CORNER

FROM PATTY McARDLE

Dear Peg:

There's a great white tyrant that stands stiffly and quietly in the dark in his own special place, in everyone's home. He has a friend who in cold, steel-like silence crouches nearby, his long tail wrapped neatly around himself. Together they wait for the inevitable day when the little housewife is compelled to take them out of the dark and into the daylight, where they can perform their grisly task of flattening out a bunch of poor old clothes who never did them any harm. Given half a chance, they also like nothihg better than scorching brown a few pure white garments.

Now, there's many a housewife who doesn't mind their being around at all, in fact some even derive a certain pleasure from the job the three of them do. But, I for one would far rather go handle in hand with my noisy but friendly old Hoover around the apartment, or wipe my nice polish-scented dust cloth over the furniture, even push thirsty, old O-Cedar mop across the kitchen and bathroom floors, or remove the remains of dinner from a load of dishes in the midst of hot, sweet smelling suds, than to take this pair out of the closet, in which they stay well out of my sight.

BUT, COMES THE DAY of reckoning, and yesterday was the day. Bob had been out of handkerchiefs for three days, neither the girls or I had a blouse to wear, and the laundry basket was heaped to twice its size (it also stays tucked away in the closet where I can't see how full it's getting). In order to get myself in the proper frame of mind for the day's task, before I went to sleep the preceding night, I tried to think of the many other distasteful chores I could be looking forward to doing the next day. Not being able to think of any, I simply groaned, turned over and went to sleep.

Megan and Bridget were in the midst of "Ding Dong School" when I, having prolonged my bed making and breakfast dish washing as long as I could with a clear conscience, flung open the catch-all closet door and grabbed my rickety, old ironing board (given to us four years ago by the former tenants, who found it behind the kitchen door when they moved in five years prior—the apartment is a hundred years old—Heavens! I'm probably harboring a fabulous antique—must see about making a coffee table out of it or something).

I TOOK THE IRON off the shelf and the three of us trudged into the living room to set up shop. Ironing board and I struggled, but I won out and having plugged iron in, was ready to start. Something was missing, oh yes, the laundry—THE LAUNDRY! Yippee! I had forgotten to dampen it. Happily, I unplugged the iron and went to the kitchen to dampen. Angel Casey was almost through entertaining her TV viewing children, when I returned to the living room with the laundry basket filled with damp little bundles.

I tried desperately to convince myself thaf it wouldn't take long to complete my task, but just as I secretly knew, it was an all day job. I ironed no more than half a dozen handkerchiefs, before I had to stop and take Bridget to the bathroom, ironed a few more and went to hunt up some gum for Megan, another shirt or two and the telephone rang (of course, that meant unplugging the iron and taking it with me as I couldn't leave it near the girls). After a lengthy phone conversation, the iron had to be heated up again before I could get to work on a couple of aprons—then it was lunch time.

AN HOUR AND A HALF LATER the children were in bed, having been fed and bathed. Now, I could really get down to brass tacks. If I had just kept my mind on blouses, tea towels, dresses, etc., I'd have been all right—but, no, I had to start solving household problems. The more I thought, the slower I ironed, to say nothing of the fact that it was wearing me out to think so much.

As I was strenuously problem solving, the frightening thought we were saving nothing for the girls' future education occured to me. Here Megan is already four years old, which means that in only fourteen years she will be ready for college. I decided we must start buying at least a bond a month right away. This idea naturally forced me to stop ironing and go find a pencil and paper to figure out how much money we would have in fourteen years, if we bought a bond a month every month from now until then. This took a considerable amount of figuring—the accumulating interest threw me.

The girls were awake by the time I was ready to get back to the ironing, and the afternoon progressed much as the morning had. The only redeeming feature was the fact that the iron made the "Howdy Doody" program fade out several times. At exactly 6:30 p. m. I was done, through, finished. Hurriedly, I dragged that old ironing board and his friend back to their closet, out of sight, where they will stand in the dark quietly and patiently waiting . . .

My love,

Patty.

Fence Post Becomes Open Forum on High School Bond Issue

Over-Simplification

You state, in your column of February 18, that "there is really only one issue-'Does Arlington Heights high school district need a new school?'

"Now don't you think that this is an over-simplification of a very complex question? If you answer your question in the affirmative it does not necessarily follow that you favor the building advocated by the board. Also it leaves us without an answer to the question "Can we afford to build, on the proposed scale, at a time when prices are at a peak and apparently about to slide downhill?"

Now I have been trained to think that there is no absolute right or absolute wrong in questions of this kind; that a middle ground usually offers the acceptable answer. The extreme on either side of the question fails to convince me. The American way is the way of compromise. The pattern was set for us in our constitution which was made up of compromises.

W. K. Parker

Joke Is Over

Congratulations, Committee of of 100 I have always appreciated a good joke to the extent that nobody is harmed by it.

I especially enjoyed the subtle manner in which you in your article in the Herald of February 18, indicated that your loud objections to the much needed Arlington Heights high school expansion program were really meant only as a joke intended to arouse the interest of the people into getting out to vote on February 27 so that there would be a decided approval of the proposition.

Deliberately jumbling figures and pretending to overlook the obvious fact that classes of one size graduate from high school each year while classes of another size (usually larger) are entering, and further confusing figures by your careless references to "compounding" figures was certainly a superb method of "letting the cat out of the bag."

No person reading the article could possibly have any further reason to believe that your stand had ever been more than a joke. Your article of February 18 convinced me that you are actually 100% for it.

Now that your joke is over and has accomplished its purpose of arousing interest in the forth coming election. I do think that you should make one further statement.

For the benefit of those who did not read your masterful article, and for those few who may have misunderstood your subtlety, I believe you should make a clear statement indicating that you are completely in favor of the proposed program along with the rest of the public minded citizens of School District No. 214.

Let's Not Wait

The fears of increased taxation in regard to the Arlington Heights high school bond issue have caused negative comments on the part of some persons. Many of the negative comments have nothing to do with the issue at hand which is, will we provide adequate education for our youth?

Regardless of whether the present high school is expanded or a second high school is built on Foundry road, construction on either must be done immediately. If the bond issue is defeated Saturday the delay will cause a situation detrimental to the high standards of education now prevalent in the high school. It has been apparent since the site election a year ago that a new high school is to be built, yet many persons who have said there has not been enough publicity about the new school, have never attended a high school board meeting. The meetings are public and never are attended by other citizens.

THE OPPOSITION has used taxation as a reason for opposing the bond issue. One has cause to wonder if the fear of taxation is a true motive on the part of those who have so readily distorted figures to their own advantage. Those who emphasize increased taxation fail to admit educational costs have increased along with wages and all goods in our present economy.

Regardless of whether a second school is built or an addition is made to the present school plant, money will have to be spent. Is it practical to provide for excellent elementary schools in this area and then fail to provide adequate high schools?

There is no value to waiting to build. The need for new construction is upon us and must be performed immediately. There isn't a corridor in the older part of the present high school that is adequate for this year's student enrollment. Have you ever been in one of these corridors during the interval between classes and seen and felt the press of students as they are forced to slowly pass from one class to another in the narrow halls?

HAVE YOU AVAILED yourself of the opportunity to look into the classrooms and observe the complete utilization of room space? Have you ever noticed a teacher and his class and counted the 26 or more students that are always in these rooms? As an Arlington high math teacher last year my smallest class was composed of 28 students and the largest was a crowded 35. The cost of widening corridors, demolishing the poorly constructed front section of the building, constructing a new unit in its place, and constructing two new wings on the front section near the present driveway, would involve a large expenditure of money.

As a former Arlington high teacher presently teaching at New Trier high school, I wish to present this appeal for continued support of education. Arlington high is an outstanding school which will continue as one if the voters of this area will flock to the polls in support of the high school bond issue.

Move-Ins True

We have been playing watchdog these past few weeks, we citizens of Arlington Heights high school district.

We've been casting a critical eye at the proposal to build a new $2,500,000 high school. At open meetings we've forced our elected representatives to "lay it on the line."

As a taxpayer, a father and a newspaperman, I've felt we had not only the right but the responsibility to question, to examine, to rebuke, even to reject if we deemed it wise. I've listened to both sides, read their presentations in this newspaper, checked enrollment figures in the county superintendent of schools' office and at most of the elementary schools in the high school district. I've talked to more than a dozen elementary school administrators, school board members and teachers about the matter.

I'VE QUESTIONED and I've examined, but I've come to the conclusion that I cannot rebuke and I cannot reject the school board and its carefully thought out plan for the future of our children.

The weight of evidence is overwhelming. The need for high school housing expansion is immediate and imperative. It's imperative, too, that the expansion be orderly and planned.

To dilly-dally now when the crisis is at hand, to forsake the school board's thorough plan for no plan at all—as the organized opposition would have us do—would be to replace order with chaos and gamble with the future of thousands of children to whom we owe a first-class high school education.

Before we fall into this trap, let's take a good had look at a few of the things the opposition has asked us to do or believe:

1. THEY'VE ATTEMPTED to make us believe that by building the second high school we'd be using tax money that somehow ... nobody can tell how ... could be channeled into needed grade school construction. Elementary school board members joined the high school board in scotching this one.

2. They've asked us to put more faith in the ideas of one educator than in the combined judgments of our own high school administrators, our hard-working board and independent experts from two universities. Which way do you think the scales tip?

3. They've told us that the bond issue of $985,000 for the recent high school addition has "not yet appeared" on our tax bills, and that state aid for high school pupils is $22 per pupil. One does not have to be a very good watchdog to determine that these are misstatements of fact—relatively trivial, perhaps, but symtomatic of the way the opposition has arrived at its conclusions.

4. Most serious of all, they would have us believe that the board has falsified enrollment figures and recklessly over-figured its move-in estimates. Watchdogs, before you fall for this one, study carefully an enrollment chart presented by the board (such as the one in the "Let's Be Factual" mailer sent out last week.) You'll find no compounding of percentages, just a simple count of noses plus a 10% move-in factor. Now go back and study the Committee of 100's future enrollment estimates in last week's local paper. You'll find that the opposition group allows for only a 7% move-in and makes absolutely no allowance for the wartime birthrate jump that has flooded grade schools!

The following figures, available to all taxpayers for the asking, show what happened to enrollment in eight of our elementary districts between September, 1952, and September, 1953:

DIST. 57 (Mt. Prospect) increased from 895 to 1160, up 29½%; Dist. 25 (Arlington Heights) up from 1730 to 2140, or 23½%; Dist. 21 (Wheeling) up from 336 to 400, or 91%, District 23 (Prospect Heights) up from 330 to 400, 21%.

Dist. 24 (Wilson) up from 85 to 100, 17½%; Dist. 26 (Feehanville) up from 68 to 72, 6%; Dist. 59 (Elk Grove) up from 234 to 335, up 43%; Dist. 56 (Forest View), up from 33 to 115, or 248%.

The above figures show over-all enrollment increases; in other words, they include both the move-ins and the war-time birthrate.

Consider the move-ins alone: Just since last September, Mt. Prospect's elementary school population climbed from 1160 to 1242 by Feb. 5 — a 7% move-in in five months. Mt. Prospect's present eighth grade class totaled a mere 38 when they were fifth graders in 1950. They climbed 18½% to 46 by September, 1951, 35½% to 61 by September, 1952; and 11 2/3 per cent to 68 by the time they entered the eighth grade last September. They were up another 5%, to 72, by last week.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS' present eighth grade had 142 pupils as of last September, up 63% over the same group's enrollment of 87 in the sixth grade in September, 1951. These eighth graders represent a part of the junior class of 1956. The increases cited are move-ins.

Even granting that such move-ins eventually are likely to taper off, isn't the high school board being ultra-conservative in estimating that there will be at least a 10% move-in in each age group between now and 1956, or between now and September, 1960?

These are random examples. I could give you columns of them if space permitted. You can get them from elementary school officials. The school board has had these figures, and has acted upon them. The opposition could have had them, too, had it bothered to check.

While we're watching our tax purse at the front door, watchdogs, let's not blindly let the culprits sneak in the back door and make off with our children's heritage.

Predict Other Schools Will Follow Arlington's Two School Plan

The vote Saturday, February 27, on the new high school bond issue will do much to influence the future pattern of secondary education in Northern Illinois according to Dr. Jack R. Childress of Northwestern University. Dr. Childress, who headed the survey group employed last year by the high school board of education to help it in planning for the future, spoke briefly at a public meeting last Thursday at the high school. He explained that while some suburban districts were committed to one large high school as a result of previous land purchases and other factors, many others will have the same opportunity as Arlington Heights to keep their high school enrollments within more reasonable bounds.

Drawing upon his wide experience in this area and elsewhere, Dr. Childress expressed his belief that an overwhelming majority of high school administrators were convinced that high school units of 1500 to 2000 made for better education and more manageable student bodies than was generally possible in schools of larger size.

Dr. Childress' informal talk followed an illustrated presentation of the high school board made by Kenneth E. Dougan, a member of the board. Elmer F. Laurin, president of the board, also spoke in behalf of the bond issue and questions from the floor were answered.

An Open Letter To My Friends In The High School District

It is the privilege of everyone to have an opinion and to express it . . . but so many words have been said and written about the new high school, that it may easily have led to confusion.

In this letter, I offer my friends a quick solution to this problem. Disregard all the words, rumors and stories, and ask yourselves this one question—shall we provide the room for many more youngsters soon to enter the high school?

We have known for some time that educational authorities rate Arlington High as one of the top high schools in Illinois. If this high standing is to be maintained with an increased enrollment you must provide the tools, and tools to a teacher are class rooms.

Remember . . . no one can possibly be harmed by a negative vote except the children.

Whatever your decision, be sure to exercise your right to vote.

After the ballots are counted, I hope all of us can resume our normal role of good neighbors.

Sincerely yours,
ELMER F. LAURIN

THE BALANCE SHEET

A Campaign Resume of the School Story

FOR

Enrollment trends two years ago convinced the school boards that future planning was necessary.

Growth will continue far beyond that which is practicable to house at the present location. The first step was purchase of land for which the voters gave their approval last spring.

The projection of 2,094 students by 1956 and 3,010 by 1960, are based on actual grade school enrollments today plus a 10% move-in. The figures cover actual enrollments in 12 schools served by the high school.

There is no thought of splitting District 214. Both high schools would operate under a single superintendent with a principal for each school. There would be little higher administrative costs except for the additional assistants, counselors and teachers who will be needed for the increased number of pupils.

It is true that the physical education and music departments housed in the gymnasium addition can accommodate a student body of 2,000. However, the academic facilities, the shops and the majority of the plant cannot adequately house more than 1,500 pupils.

The Foundry Road school will be used for full four year high school, not as a "feeder" school.

Present teacher loads, not including study halls and driver training, is 25.8 pupils per teacher, but the board has publicly stated that there will be many classes which will have as many as 35 students in order to accommodate even the 1,500 in the present building.

It will probably be necessary even before the new school can be opened to reduce class periods to 45 minutes and to increase the school day from 8 to 9 periods.

The per pupil net cost which must be borne by the educational fund itself is only $346.62 per year.

The schools have nothing to do with fixing the assessed valuation of property owners which is done by the county assessor's office without regard to possible school needs. Approval of bond issue cannot raise your assessment valuation.

If the children who are here now to be educated in two high schools were placed in one mammoth school as in Chicago and some suburbs, or in two or three shifts in the present building, the major costs of education such as teachers' salaries, heat, light, and transportation would all have to be met and could not be lightly passed off as being the result of two schools.

District No. 25 pays 43.7% of the taxes for the high school, leaving 53.3% now being paid by the other parts of the district. Mount Prospect, District No. 56, contributes 23.5%; Elk Grove, District No. 59, 6.7%; Wheeling, District No. 21, 8%; Prospect Heights, District No. 23, 6.5%; Feehanville, District No. 26, 3.4%. This means that 48.1%, or approximately half of the cost, according to present assessed valuation, would come from the area to be served by the new high school.

Grade schools generally have found no increase in cost, and in some cases savings, as a result of operating more than one smaller unit against a larger single one. No alternative unit is offered on the ballot because public referendum on matters of this kind are always offered on the yes or no basis.

To accommodate an additional 500 pupils at the present location would require not only the construction of the contemplated wings on the front of the building, but the virtual replacement of the present front wing at a time when space in the present building could least well afford it.

Even if this were done to bring the capacity to 2,000, the enrollment figures which have been presented many times indicate the full capacities would be reached by the fall of 1956. To carry the school at the present location beyond the student body of 2,000, would require building across the street west of Ridge ave., or on the football field, and in addition would require further facilities for physical education and music now housed in the 1949 addition.

It would mean a sidewalk to sidewalk factory type school plant entirely out of keeping with the community. Another alternative equally undesirable would be overcrowding, double shifts, and classes too large for adequate instruction.

In figures presented, we have not compounded the 10% "move ins." In fact, our figures only allow a total of 300 "move ins" during the next seven years which we think is extremely low.

AGAINST

We dispute our township population in 1961 will be 175% larger than it is at present.

The following comparison of enrollment figures show the school board our committee figures based on 10% move-ins and Mr. Kibbie's figures based on 7% move-ins which he thinks is more accurate.

Schl. Bd. Figs.	Our Figs.	7% Increase
1955—1711	1556	1442
1956—2094	1712	1543
1957—2431	1884	1652
1958—2705	2073	1768
1959—2861	2281	1892
1960—3010	2510	2025
1961—3297	2761	2167

Mr. Kibbie bases his 7% increase on the actual increase between 1952 and 1953. If such a basis is correct, the discrepancy between the high school board and our figures is 1,130 students. We believe that indicates there is a sufficient opportunity for expansion for the present high school to take care of the normal increase.

The bond issue of 1949 for the gymnasium addition was $985,000. With a proposed $2,500,000, there would be a total of $3,485,000 upon which we would be paying interest during the next 20 years. (Please note: Moody's "Government and Municipalities Book of 1954" states that our H. S. Bonded Indebtedness as of June 30, 1953, was much larger than $985,000. It quotes a total of $1,345,000, a base figure which would greatly enlarge this calculation).

Based on the retirement of half, we estimate that the total amount that has to be raised by taxpayers for the two bond issues, including 3% interest, will approximate $4,530,550. This figure presumes that there will be no additional capital investment to be made for either of the schools, during the next twenty years.

Hugh C. Kibbie, a man of numerous degrees and who has access to many factors bearing on this matter, has not been able to secure much pertinent data which should be available to any citizens from the high school district.

Conflicting statements have been made by the "pro" regarding the use of the proposed new school. Is it to be a "feeder" school with limited program and facilities, or is it to be a complete duplicate of the present Arlington Heights high school?

Many of the special service facilities of the recent addition were built to provide for an enrollment of 2,000 students.

We ask why not build the addition to the present building now and save a couple of million dollars in tax drafts?

If the present cost of students is $455 per capita, an enrollment of 1,300 students would require $582,400 net from taxes.

Annual operating costs for 1,000 students in the new high school will be $455,000. Subtracting state aid, there would be a net of $448,000. The total cost of operating the two high school buildings would be $1,030,400. When 3,000 students are enrolled, the cost will be $1,344,000.

No harm will be done if the bond issue is defeated now and the board show adequate cause for erection of a new school at a later date.

In order to build or maintain a second high school with the volume of students as portrayed by the high school board, the district would have to have an assessed valuation of approximately $135 million dollars which would require an additional assessed valuation of $55,000,000.

We think that an alternative plan should be placed on the ballot. We think the school board missed a good opportunity when it did not select a citizens committee made up of many educated men living in the district to study the needs of the high school with them.

Mr. Kibbie says that if we are to prepare grade school youngsters for the curriculum and facilities that a high school district offers, they really have to do some expanding in our grade schools. Thirty to 40% of the youngsters entering our high schools are not ready to accept the curriculum offered because the grade school facilities are not adequate to lay the proper foundation.

Final Statement By School Board

In closing its informational campaign on the new high school bond issue to be decided this Saturday, the Board of Education, District 214, issued the following statement:

"As a board and as individuals we wish to express appreciation to all those who have helped to inform the public on this important issue. It is not easy to convey to others the results of long hours of study, planning and consultation which must precede any such serious proposal as a second high school for our district.

"We firmly believe that a favorable vote on the new high school proposition is in the best interests of the children to be educated, the parents and the community at large. Enrollment figures show conclusively that a decision must be made between high school units of up to 2,000 pupils each and one unit of twice that size. These figures also show the decision should be made now!

"It would have been much easier to propose an addition to the present school. This, however, would not solve the problem. However, the board was elected not to take the 'easiest' course, but to act according to its best judgment and that of its consultants in the interest of the community. Without a second high the only alternative would be a continuous, expensive, building addition program, overcrowding with the definite possibility of multiple shifts, and a frantic effort to recover a lost educational position. Such conditions would affect even those children now in the lower grades.

"While no one believes that education, or any other service, can be provided without cost, the district is in excellent financial condition going into this period of rapidly expanding enrollment. Assuming the passage of the bond issue, the board pledges to continue its careful and economic administration of the funds entrusted to it.

"We have full confidence that those who have repeatedly supported their schools in the past and those who were attracted to this area by the quality of the grade schools and the high school will back the program with their votes on Saturday."

CIVIC LEADERS AGREE

The Children Are Now In The Elementary Schools
We Must Provide High School Buildings For Them NOW

The following expressions supporting the proposed high school bond issue and building program are but a few that have reached the high school board and administrators from civic leaders in the high school district.

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION
District 214

R. Dennis Malcolmson
Elk Grove

I believe that a good high school education has become one of the pillars of the American way of life. In our homes we could live in a rough, undecorated, poorly furnished shelter without certain appliances and facilities and save ourselves money, but do we feel that it is worth it?

In my observations the local board of education has used fine judgment and discrimination in building modern, attractive, comfortable and practical additions which serve our youth of this modern era properly. I shall continue to have great faith in the integrity and wisdom of this board, our elected representatives, in planning additions of which we are not ashamed due to their cheap, rough simplicity. On the other hand I am sure they have not and will not go overboard in lavishness, luxury or ornamentation.

R. E. Clabaugh
Arlington Heights

Elementary school enrollments and the amount of residential construction in this area indicate that the Arlington Heights Township High School is faced with unprecedented increases in enrollment. It is wise planning to establish more than one high school building in a district which seems certain to have the kind of growth which the elementary schools have already experienced. In fact, there does not appear to be any sound manner in which the present building and site could be made to accommodate the number of students for which this high school district must prepare.

I believe the program to be voted upon on February 27 should be approved.

Victoria Guenther
Wheeling

Writing only as a parent of three children and not in any official capacity. I consider the children of America our most precious resource and it is up to all of us as voters to protect this resource by supporting the school boards and administrators of this area in their desire to maintain the high educational standards of all our schools.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Rezner
Mount Prospect

"The new building will insure the same high standards of education for future generations—congratulations to a far-sighted board."

Stuart R. Paddock
Arlington Heights

I recently heard a prominent Cook County farmer say, "Housing demands in Cook County will sooner or later strangle farming operations. We can not expect that farm owner, faced with rising taxes and high labor costs, to refuse to accept the attractive land prices offered by the subdivision developer."

His statement is the whyfore of all our school difficulties.

The voters of Arlington Heights elementary schools recognized a week ago the acute situation facing their school system and for the fourth time in four years gave their approval to a major school expansion program. The voters in five of the elementary school districts within the Arlington Heights high school boundaries have given similar approval to bond issues for their schools.

The crowded condition that today faces the elementary schools will be faced by the high school within two years.

The voters of the high school district recently authorized the purchase of the site for the second high school. The board has called the coming election to get approval to place a building on that site.

A negative vote at the Feb. 27 election will not solve the high school enrollment problem. Those school children are on the way and the law requires the high school district to provide them with a high school education — that education will require more than half day sessions.

A temporary delay in the erection of that new school will only postpone the inevitable—a second high school building.

Approval of the bond issue is an educational job. Who can better do that job than the members of the many P. T. A.'s and kindred organizations who brought about favorable vote in the elementary school elections?

Mrs. C. H. Rosene
Arlington Heights

Those of us who have chosen suburban in preference to city living, expect certain advantages in schooling for our children. Among these advantages are smaller classes, more individual attention and freedom from the overcrowded conditions often found in metropolitan schools. If the erection of a new high school will assure us of a continuation of our present high standards, I am confident that the majority of parents will be in favor of it.

Werner C. Reese
Arlington Heights

Our Parochial School should be mindful of the fact that our Public High School enrolls practically all of our grade school graduates and therefore, it should be our concern to see that their High School education is on the same high level as was their primary training.

Warren L. Fellingham
Arlington Heights

Few people realize how fortunate we are to have public spirited citizens who are willing to give so much of their time in the interest of good schools for our children. I think a broad discussion, such as we have been having on the high school program, is the typical American way of doing things.

My only concern now is that in the progress of the recent discussions, some may lose sight of the fundamental promise that we must continue to provide without delay for schools to house the children now living in this area. The proposals of the high school board disclose careful planning after consultation with recognized authorities which should continue the standards that have attracted so many of us to this section.

Readers Express Their Opinion on High School

Postpone, Not Abandon

I understand it has been officially announced that ground will be broken May 1st of this year for a new Catholic high school for boys of this district, conducted by the Holy Cross Fathers of Notre Dame.

Now, it seems to me that even the high school board must concede the erection of this Catholic high school will materially affect the projected future enrollment they are planning for in recommending the erection of another high school to the tune of $2,500,000.

It must be apparent to all of us, too, therefore, that the expansion plan as contemplated must be revamped, in view of this latest development, and that the only way this can be done is to postpone the erection of this second high school for the time being until a more realistic program can be worked out.

We need not abandon necessary high school expansion plans, but we must avoid possible costly mistakes in voting through this $2,500,000 bond issue.

Let us all get out and vote "NO" on Saturday, Feb. 27.

Mrs. Joseph Orgler,
733 N. Beverly
Arlington Heights.

Let's Reconsider

The proposed new high school issue is one which is of vital importance to the youth of our community and areas included in the high school district of Wheeling township, as well as to the taxpayers, who must pay and bear the cost of the physical building, the maintenance thereof and the faculty payroll.

There is no doubt that due to the increase in the population of the high school district additional class room facilities will be needed, however, a project of the magnitude of this proposal ($2,500,000 building cost) certainly requires long range planning, thorough study and the cooperation of the school authorities and citizens involved, in order to provide adequate high school facilities for the future growth and development of the entire high school district.

THE POTENTIAL residential increase within the district is an item deserving of serious consideration, before building plans are approved. A strictly residential area soon will become tax bound without industrial and-or commercial assistance.

By planning for the location of additional light industries and commercial enterprises within the district and rezoning of property for their accommodation, the tax load of the residential taxpayers will be relieved, the assessed valuation of the district will be increased, and the entire financial structure will be strengthened.

It has been repeatedly asserted and pointed out that the present high school facilities are adequate for the present and therefore, there is time for the reconsideration of this proposal, by the high school board in cooperation with a citizen's committee.

THE GRADUATION of the senior class in June, 1954, will provide room for the freshman class in September 1954, thus providing for time to give consideration to a new proposal.

There is reasonable and well founded doubt that another gymnasium is necessary for inclusion in the plans for the new high school, because surely the high school board gave consideration to the expansion of the athletic requirements of the high school when the propositions for the recently constructed new gymnasium and high school additions were submitted to the voters.

The youth of our entire high school district and the citizens and taxpayers thereof will most certainly benefit from a reconsideration of this proposal and the postponement of the February 27 election date pending further study.

The only alternative to a refusal of reconsideration is for the voters to vote "No" on the proposal and the expense of another election can be saved by postponement in this case.

Where To Vote

The polls are open from 12 noon to 7:00 p.m. in six election precincts. The location of the polling plaes and the areas each will serve are substantially as follows:

Polling place No. 1—Wheeling public school for area north of Hinz rd. or its extension thereof.

Polling place No. 2—Village of Arlington Heights north of the railroad; area south of Hinz rd. and west of the center line of Buffalo Grove rd. and that part lying within the Arlington Heights corporate limits lying south of McDonald rd.

Polling place No. 3—Arlington Heights village hall for all of the village south of the railroad and that area west of Busse rd. and north of Route 58.

Polling place No. 4—Prospect Heights school for that area lying south of Hinz rd. east of Buffalo Grove rd. and north of Euclid, except area within the Arlington Heights village limits.

Polling place No. 5—Mount Prospect Public school on Central rd. for village of Mount Prospect and area south of Euclid ave. east of the village of Arlington Heights east of Busse rd. and north of Route 58.

Polling place No. 6—Elk Grove public school for all of Elk Grove township south of the center line of Route 58, known as Evanston-Elgin rd.

On all roads mentioned above the center line shall govern as well as the extensions of said roads where they are not now laid out.

Each voter will be required to register on a voters ballot application that he has the right to vote in the said election. That right is based on one year in state 90 days in county and 30 days in the high school district.

Study Larger Pool

A citizens committee to study possible enlargement of the present Adler Park pool was appointed by the community board of directors at its regular meeting at Libertyville.

Cold And Hot

Is this, perchance, the self-same Ted Seiler who last year "kicked off" the campaign against a second high school, but who so vociferously "bleeds" for it in last week's Herald? (See Fence Post of April 30, 1953).

Following are actual "quotes" from a flyer proudly edited by one Ted Seiler at that time:

"We vigorously object to:

1. The lack of opportunity for a free and open public discussion where legitimate opposition could have a fair hearing.
2. The lack of an adequate explanation as to why the expansion of present facilities is not possible.
3. The false propaganda that a high school cannot offer good education simply because enrollment exceeds 2,000."

A&P Closes Store At Crystal Lake

The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea company, which has operated a store in Crystal Lake since Oct. 1923, closed Saturday evening, in the building at 124 N. Williams st. When the store was opened more than 30 years ago, Philip Hull was the manager and remained in that capacity for 23 years.

Last year, the building was sold by A. R. Bauer to David Lorence of 510 North Shore, Crystal Lake, who has completely remodeled the second floor into 4 apartments and will convert the first floor to two stores and an office for the Schepers Insurance Agency. The A & P sought a more desirable location here and not finding one, decided to discontinue a store in Crystal Lake.

MAKE YOUR OIL GO TWICE AS FAR!

REPLACE YOUR OLD BURNER NOW with the oil-saving Winkler LP* . . . a sensational new oil burner development.

FREE HEATING SURVEY

SEE THESE AMAZING PROOFS
Seeing is believing. Come in today and watch the Winkler LP* burn—
1. Crankcase drainings
2. Mixed oil and water
3. Hard-cracked oils

Do you know that you may be wasting as much as 50% of your fuel oil? The chances are, if you live in the average size home, that your oil burner is oversized to prevent nozzle-clogging. This means that heat is wasted up the chimney—oil burned needlessly.

The low pressure Winkler LP* Oil Burner prevents this extravagant waste of precious fuel because it can be sized exactly to the heat-absorbing capacity of your boiler or furnace. It will save up to 50% of your present fuel consumption.

The Winkler LP* saves amazingly on service, too—its design is utterly simple and dependable.

BE WISE . . . VOTE "NO"

ON THE HIGH SCHOOL BOND ISSUE

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 27

POLLS OPEN NOON UNTIL 7 P. M.

The addition of $2,500,000 to a present debt of approximately $1,345,000, which, with accumulated interest, will total about $4,890,000 during the next Twenty Years, has not been adequately justified by the High School Board.

Much of the factual data to which we are entitled as citizens of Wheeling and Elk Grove Townships has not been given to us.

Yet We Are Asked To Place An Immense Additional Sum In The Hands of A Group Who Have Failed Us When We Sought Information Which Only They Could Supply

- What is the cost-accounting record of operations at the High School?
- Why hasn't the attack on Mr. Kibbie been explained?
- Who audited "THE BOOKS" of the High School?
- Why is not such an audit published?
- Why haven't we had a flat statement from the auditor that he did make a certifiable audit of "THE BOOKS?"
- Why haven't we been told that the Catholics have purchased a High School site of their own, and that construction would start on May 1?
- The Catholic people in Wheeling - Elk Grove Townships number almost one-third of our total population. When their own school is built will their children continue to go to the public High School?
- What effect will this immense reduction in the student enrollment have on our High School needs? Do we still have to build a second High School Now, as a monument to someone, when we will not have students to put in it?

Newsstand Of The Week

"At Millay's" has become a byword among Arlington Heights people as they purchase papers, magazines, season tickets to high school football and basketball games, or a host of other products. Proprietor Jim Millay is seen above ready to serve the hundreds of people who buy the Arlington Heights Herald each Thursday. The newsstand, located on Davis at Dunton, is one of 56 stands selling over 7,000 copies of Paddock Publications.

Jim is a member of both VFW and the American Legion, serving the latter group as commander. His five children are all graduates of AHTHS, with the two boys serving in the navy during World War II. His eleven grandchildren have made life pleasant for both Jim and his wife, Opal, who helps at the store when needed.

Consider Highway Business District For Crystal Lake

Raymond Colby outlined to the Crystal Lake city council his conception of a new subdivision on the former Losin property along U. S. 14. He pictured a shopping center with business set back 200 feet from the highway and with parking facilities at the rear. He proposed a zone for apartment houses, a type of dwelling that hasn't been encouraged locally.

Lessons In.... English

By W. L. GORDON

Words Often Misused

Do not say, "Since when have you been doing this?" Say, "How long have you been doing this?"

Do not say, "He spoke to me in an offhanded way." Say, "in an offhand way."

An "amateur" is one who cultivates anything as a pastime; it is the opposite of "professional." A "novice" is a beginner. A "tyro" is also a novice, but one who is exceedingly awkward and imperfect through lack of training.

Do not say, "In my estimation, he is a great leader." Say, "In my opinion."

Do not say, "He was determined to revenge his brother's death." death." Say, "to avenge his brother's death."

Words Often Mispronounced

Influence. Accent first syllable, and not the second, as is often heard.

Lichen (moss). Pronounce li-ken, i as in lie.

Stratum. Pronounce the a as in ate, not as in at.

Vapid. Pronounce the a as in at, not as in way.

Word Study

Fervid; very hot; burning; boiling. "His speech was fervid."

Motivate; to provide with a motive; impel; incite. "The knowledge that their country needed them motivated their deeds."

Foible; a moral weakness; frailty. "His disposition was threaded with superficial foibles."

Defection; failure in duty; backsliding. "He was reprimanded by his superiors when his defection was discovered."

With Uncle Sam

In Korea

Pvt. Arthur L. Anderson, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Anderson, Chestnut rd., Arlington Heights, recently arrived in Korea for duty with X Corps.

The X Corps, one of three in the Eighth army, coordinates an intensive post-truce training program for UN units under its control.

A mechanic in the 73rd engineer combat battalion, Anderson entered the army in May 1953 and was formerly stationed at the Eta Jima, Japan specialist school.

In Alaska

Army Pvt. Marvin H. Kueker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Kueker, 378 Central ave., Bensenville, is now serving with the 4th regimental combat battalion at Fort Richardson, Alaska.

Army units stationed in Alaska undergo intensive field training while guarding the northern approaches to the United States.

Private Kueker entered the army last May and completed basic training at Fort Riley, Kan.

In Virginia

Pvt. Paul D. Wilson, whose parents reside at 28 N. Cedar, Palatine, graduated from the unit supply course offered by the quartermaster school at Fort Lee, Va., February 20.

A graduate of Palatine township high school, he entered service in October, 1953.

He has been attending the quartermaster school the past eight weeks.

In Virginia

Lt. Wayne H. Kruse, son of Henry Kruse, of 212 S. Emerson st., Mt. Prospect, is now attending the associate quartermaster company officer course offered by the quartermaster school, Fort Lee, Va.

Lt. Kruse graduated from Michigan State college and entered service in February, 1954.

During his 15 weeks in the course he will acquire a working knowledge of the duties and responsibilities appropriate to company grade officers. He will receive instruction in such subjects as unit and organization supply, station supply ,depot operations, storage operations, company administration, military law, mess management, QM functions in a theater of operations, signal communications, and atomic warfare.

He will graduate from the course May 22.

GIs Learned Many Skills In Training Bill

During the past decade, the World War GI bill has helped build up the nation's reservoirs of trained manpower in fields ranging from atomic physics to airplane mechanics and from medicine to the ministry.

Robert D. Beer, manager of the veterans administration regional office, Chicago, said the study revealed 2,600,000 veterans trained as skilled crafts men.

Another 1,500,000 studied for the professions: 700,000 took GI training in the fields of management and business administration.

More than 750,000 enrolled in institutional on-farm training. A total of 434,000 trained for clerical and sales jobs.

OF 2,600,000 craftsmen who learned their skills under the GI bill, the largest proportion — 711,000, or 38 per cent — studied mechanics; automobile mechanics was most popular, and aircraft mechanics ran second.

Television and radio trainees numbered 438,000; construction workers — carpenters, bricklayers, plumbers and others—totaled 383,000; metalworkers, 288,000; electricians, 138,000, and refrigeration and air conditioning mechanics, 116,000.

In the professions, the emphasis has been on occupations requiring a scientific background.

ENGINEERING was the number one choice, attracting 450,000 veterans; another 180,000 studied medicine and related courses: 113,000 veterans chose other branches of the physical and natural sciences — physics, biology, chemistry, geology, metallurgy and others.
